-Danny-
 To a nice guy
 Have a good summer

To Daniel,

A sweet and considred guy I've known for some time.
I really enjoyed having you in my History class. You've made me smile. when I don't feel like it and you've made me get sad. But most important of all you've been a great friend. I appreciate everything you've done for me. you knew I like Andy alot and you saw I was making a mistake and made me understand
I appreciate that because you didn't want for me to get hurt. I thank you for everything. I wish you luck in the future you deserve it. and good luck with your girlfriend I hope she makes you happy. Hey Dan hope you have a great summer no partying hard or ~~drunk~~-driving. I would have to see you hurt. well hope to see you soon. TAKE CARE,

Smile

In Touch

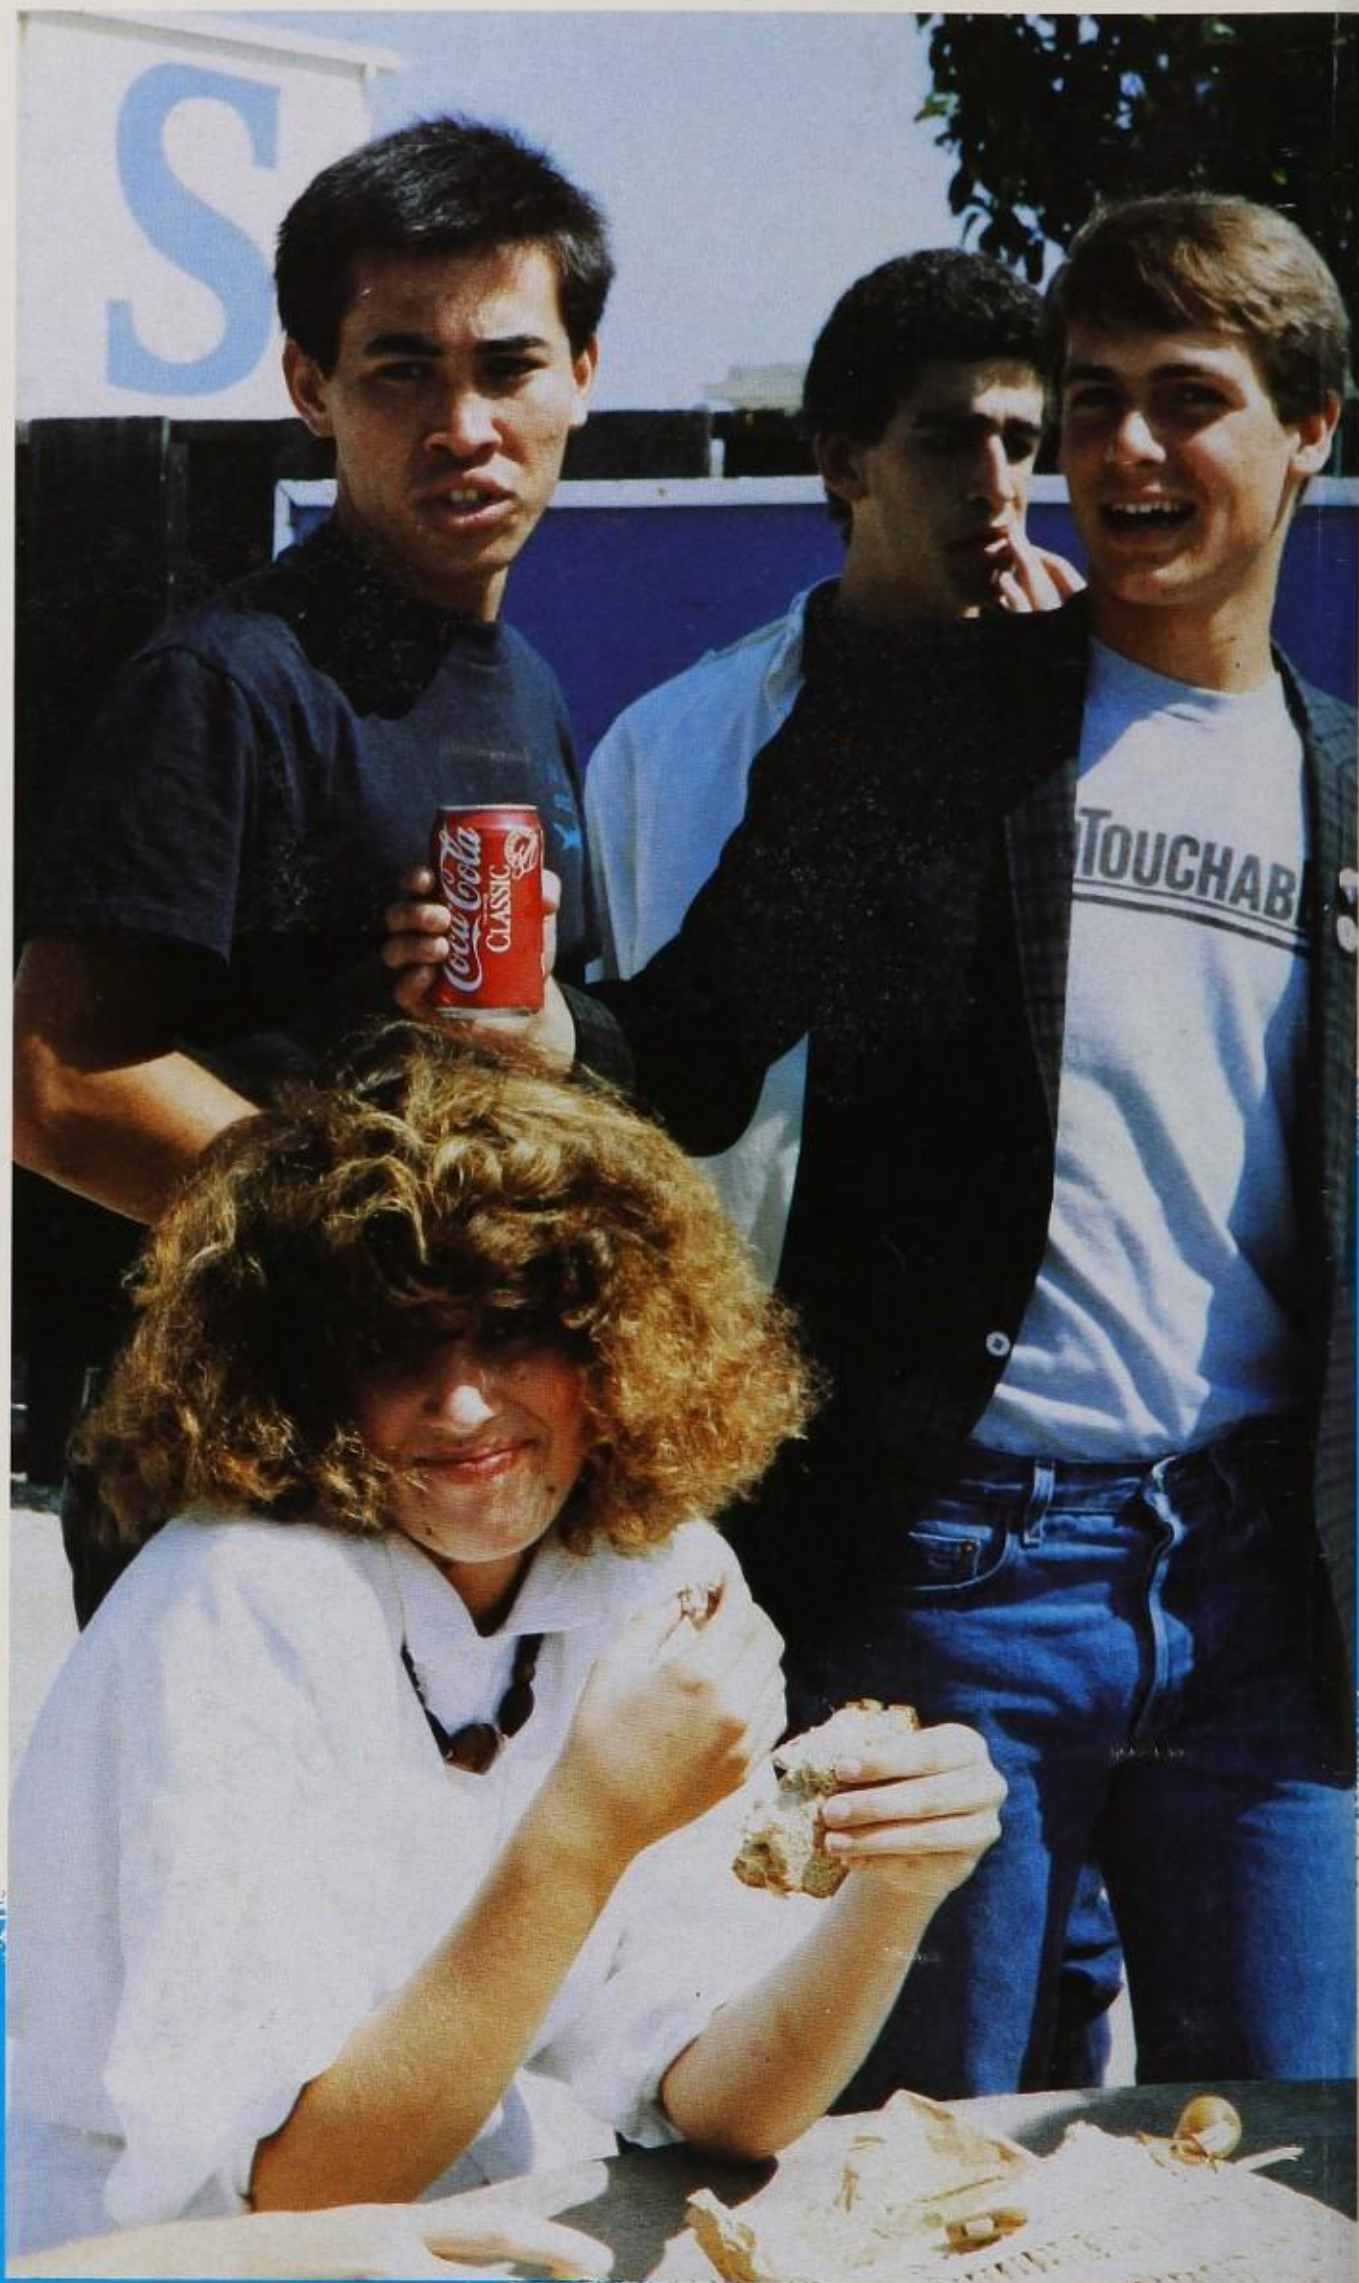

“We tried to stay in touch with what the students wanted.”

— Brian Wise &
Diane Waibel

If someone ever says that we're out of touch, they're obviously mistaken. Lompoc High School is probably the most “happen'n and in touch” high school this side of anywhere.

Now when we say that we're in touch, we don't mean we went out and grabbed, fondled, spindled, or mutilated anyone. We mean that we, as a school, became more aware of our style, friends, school, and what's going on. The Braves keep “in touch”, although sometimes it's not always with reality.

Lompoc High School is in touch with everything that's anything, such as spirit, athletics, academics, fashion, and most importantly, having a really good time. We will probably continue to be IN TOUCH for a very, very long time.

Michael Clinton, Heath Abbate, Dean Fairbanks, Misty Mau, and Coca-Cola are all classics.

Richard Lopez wonders who Jenny Decker is keeping in touch with.

Shelley Mahoney searches for sympathy.

Geoff Large, Nathan Bates, Julie Hayes, Gordon Root, and Heather Riley prove that a senior can get along with freshmen, if paid enough.

Instead of singing for her supper, Kathleen O'Neill sings to attract Interact members on Club Day.

Out to Lunch

"I like to get crazy,
after my first period
Trigonometry test."

-Pat Crosby

For most people, lunch time is not only a time to "munch", but a time to relax. You had been through four periods of stress and you were ready for a break.

A group of juniors known as "The Dudes" spend their hour of freedom going cruisin in the Ramirez Party Van, acting insane.

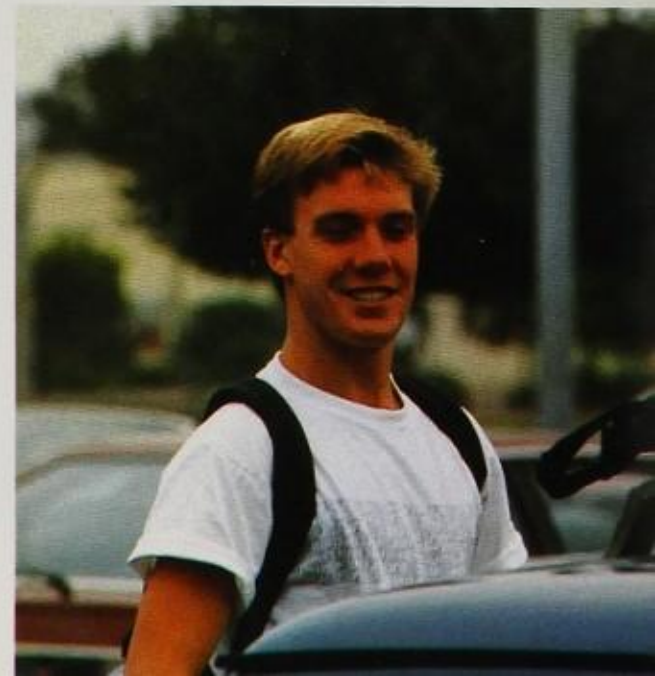

Many other people stayed on campus, such as Doug Carmean and his surf buddies. They spent their lunch in the "hot spot", soaking up the rays.

Some students didn't have it so lucky. A lot of students spent their personal time at club meetings and doing last night's homework. They all needed that hour of time to help keep their sanity and to talk with friends. Whatever the students at LHS did to keep from acting "OUT TO LUNCH", they'll remember it as being the best hour of the day.

Donna Aune and Stacy Scott finish lunch on the patio.

Joe Ferguson hitches a ride because he's got the munchies bad.

Doug Carmean and Howie Myrtle discuss the swell at Refugio while sitting in the hot spot.

Rich Cornford shows Eric George what he had for lunch.

"The Dudes" pretend to be studious.

In Time

"I've never had a problem with tardies."

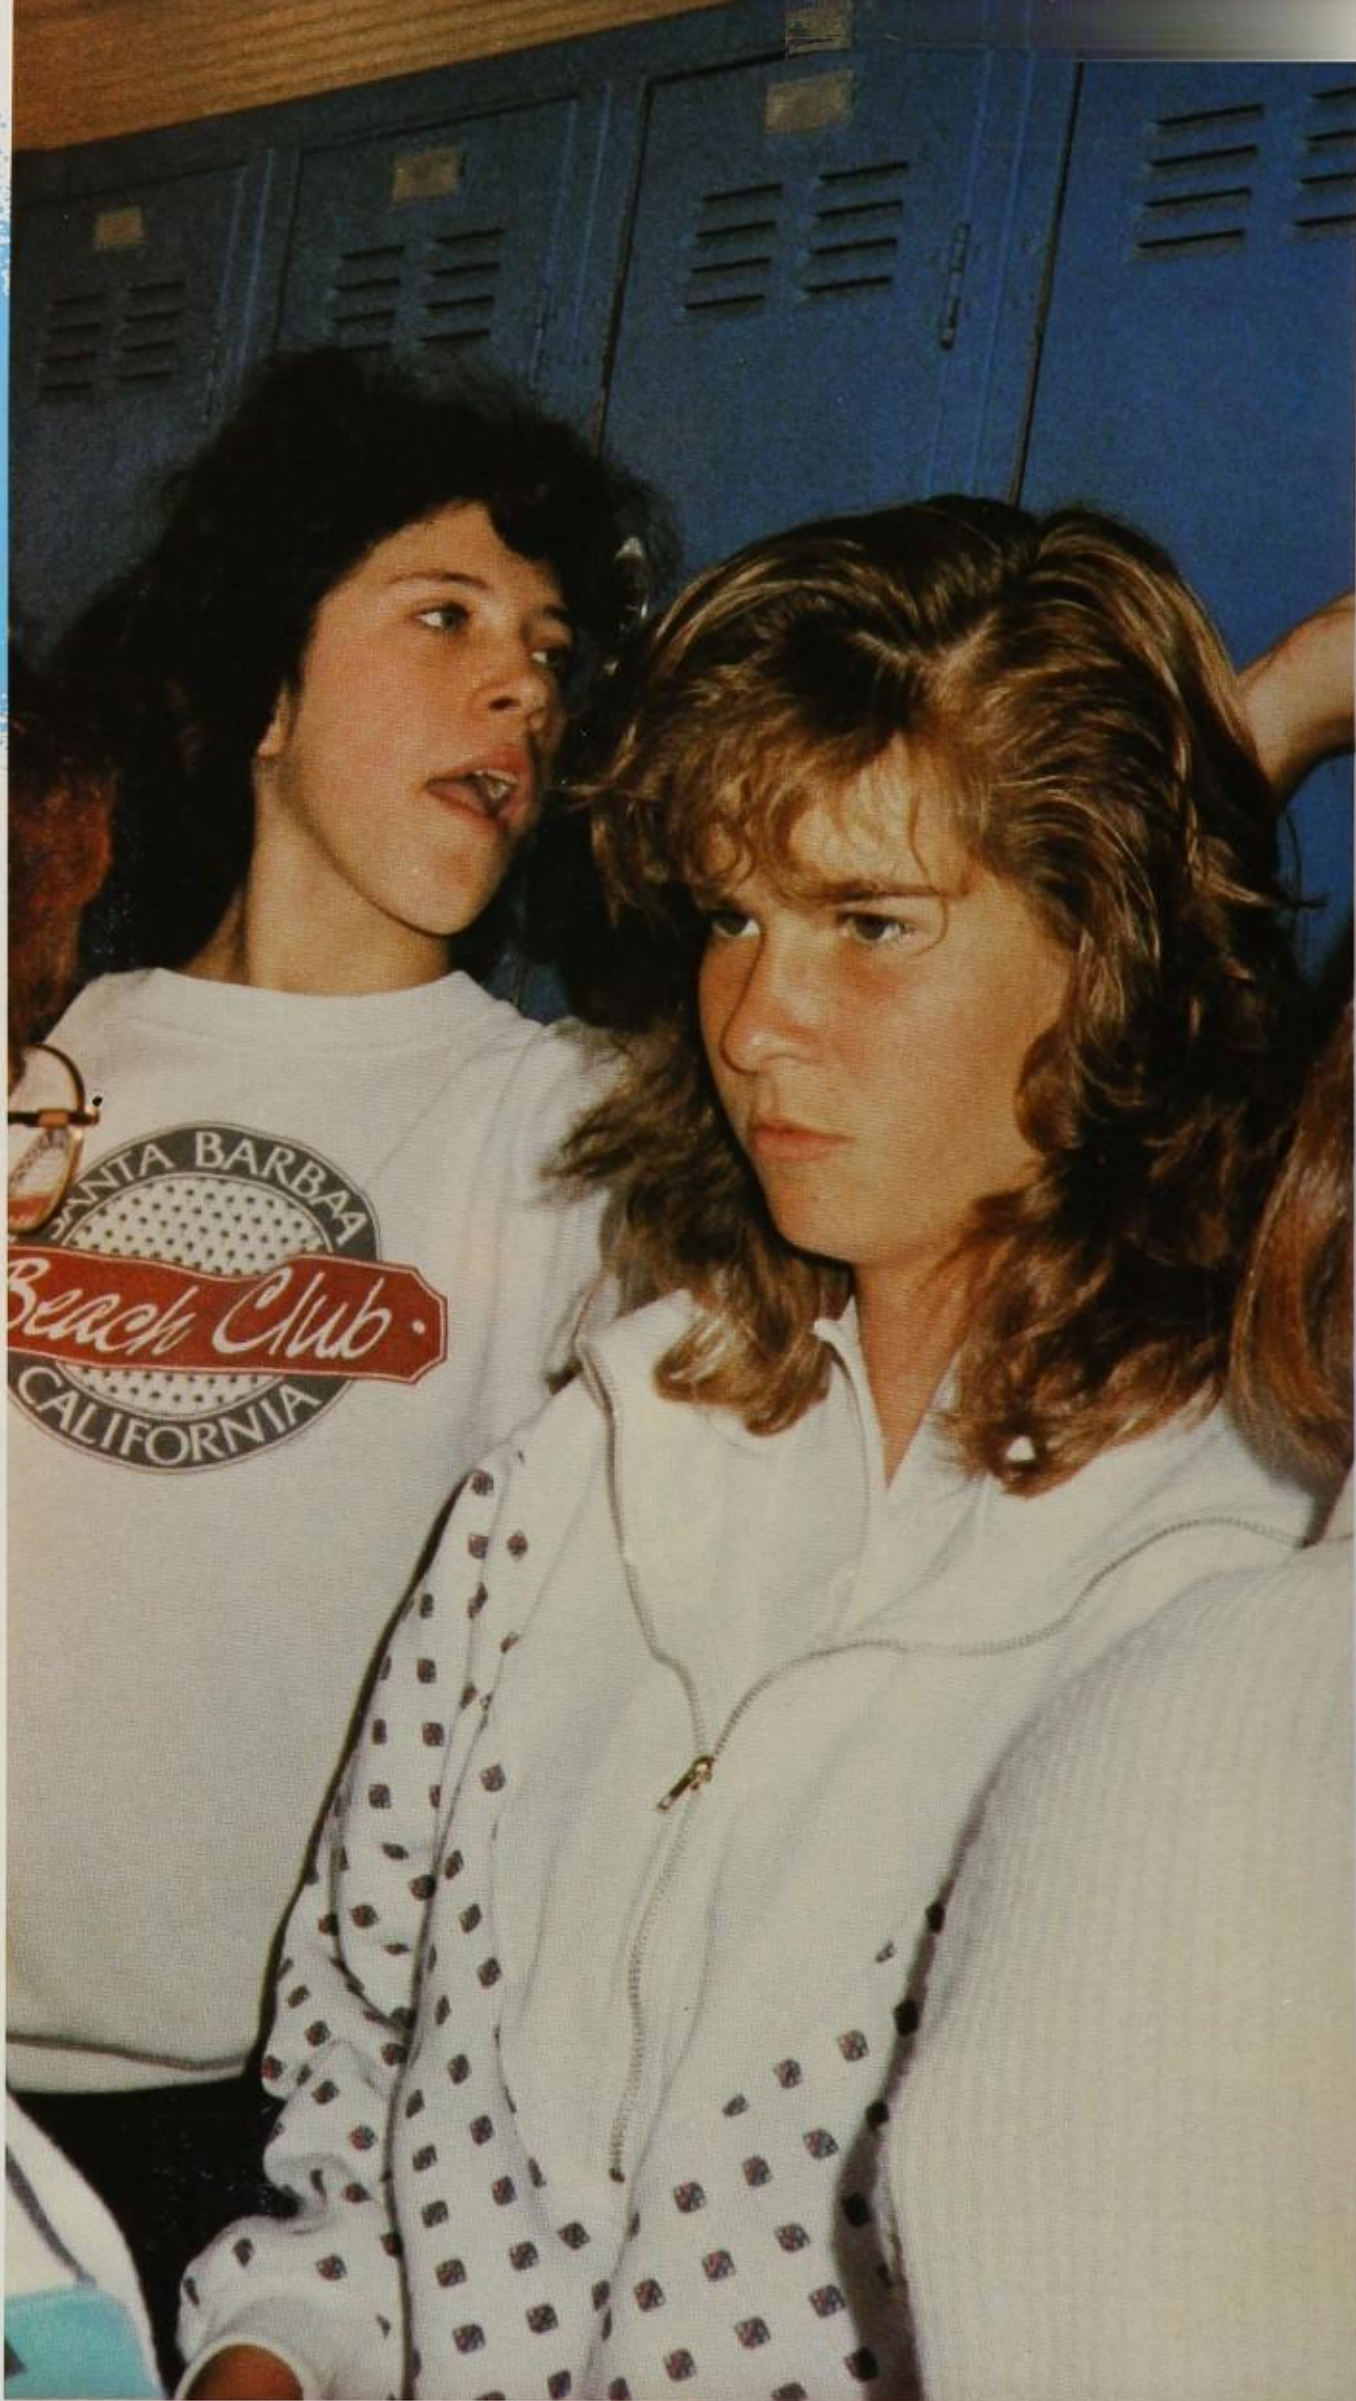

-Kerri Corcoran

Did it seem that your feet were made of lead? Were your legs a combination of latex and polyurethane adhesive? Or when they were pouring concrete, you accidentally got in their way?

Well, this year the excuses came to an end. With the new school year came a new policy regarding the scourges of the campus, the tardies! If a student received two tardies, he acquired one unexcused absence, and after eight unexcused absences, he would fail the class.

"I don't think it's fair that a couple minutes late is equivalent to missing the whole period," explained KAREN ANDERSON, a senior at LHS.

According to MRS. MATLACK, attendance secretary, the number of absences decreased as the students became aware of the policies. "I think the policies were a good idea, because they stopped a lot of cuts."

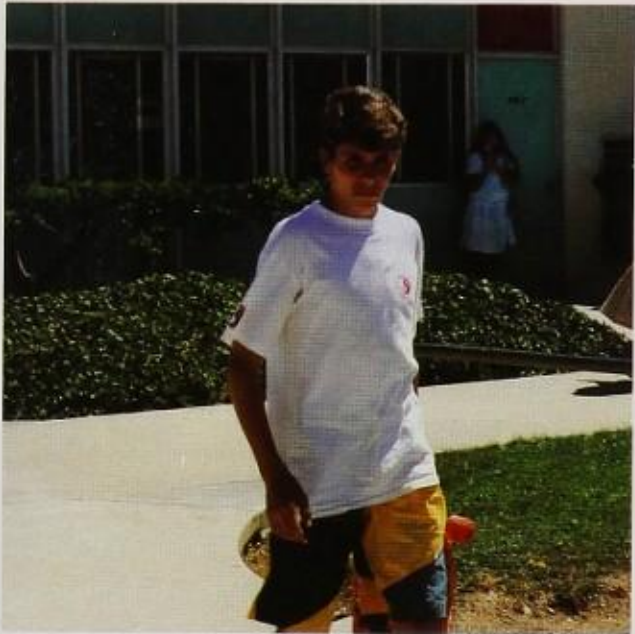

Amy Powers joins the crowds at their lockers before that mad dash to class.

Michelle Rossi and Jason Thompson still make time to snuggle before class.

Jared Busbee has little time to put away his skate before the tardy bell.

Ray Clancy, Fred Hayes, Joe Aldridge, and Aaron Leach refuse to be to class on time.

Jorge Magana, Tommy Green, and Mark Bowen goof off between class.

Outrageous

“There is so much stuff it’s hard to keep track of everything.”

-Steve Burton

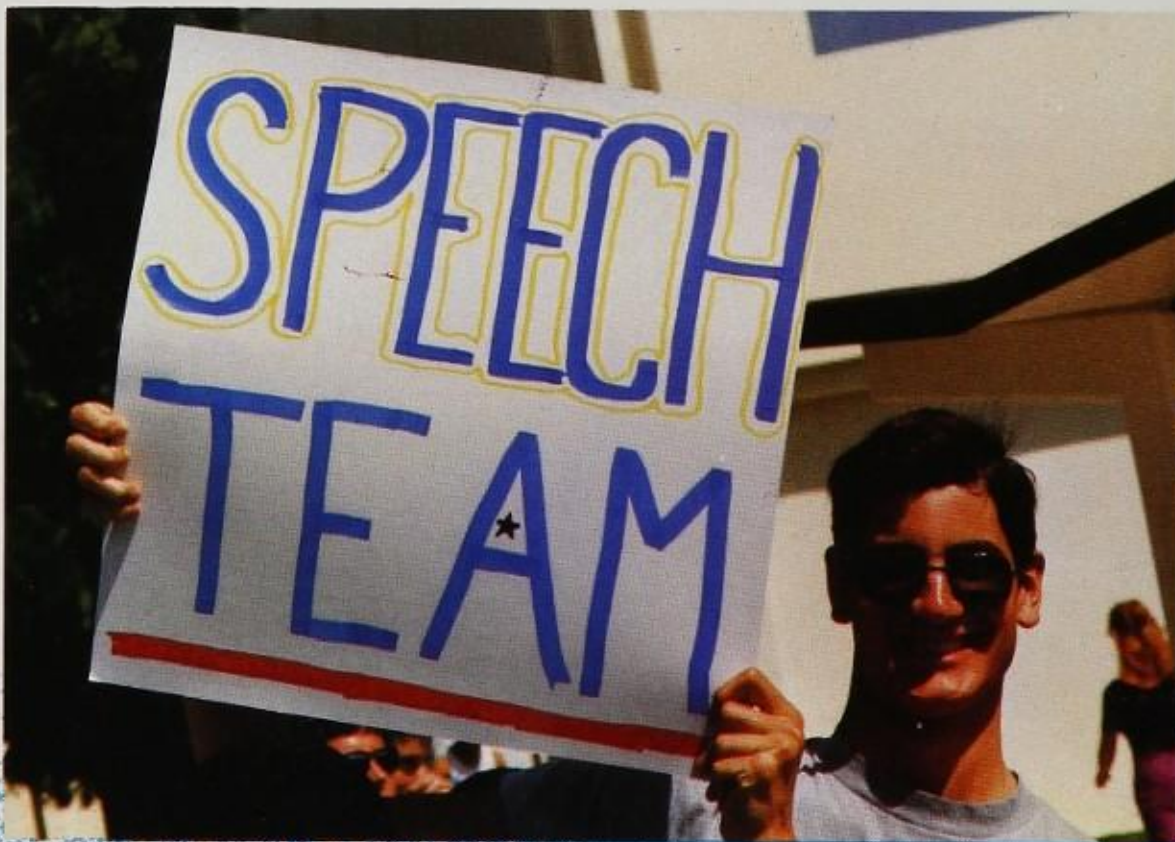

Many people had the strange misconception that the Senior year was a time to kick back, enjoy life, and relax. For some it was, but for the majority of the class of 1987, it was a time for responsibilities, commitments, hard work, and involvement. Important decisions about the future had to be made, and preparation was a must.

PAUL LOCKWOOD noted that “Important things happen every day. You really have to be on top of things to keep it under control.”

For most, it seemed that it all came down at once, when everyone was really busy.

Besides being responsible, mature, and extremely busy, the Class of 1987 definitely knew when and how to throw a rage and made the best of their last year of high school. Friends, parties, dances, physics ... you name it! It all meant a lot to everyone. But, most important of all, everyone strived to be IN TOUCH with the outrageousness of LHS so it would never be forgotten!

While guarding their men, varsity polo players Todd Jaenicke and Brian Jure keep their concentration focused during a 14-6 victory over Righetti.

Barbara Towns lists involvement, care, enthusiasm, and commitment as her priorities.

Le Shawn Steele epitomizes senior cool.

Brian Carpenter, Dean Fairbanks, David Cresswell, Scott Holloway, Jake Brown, and Seth Neilson wouldn't be "illin'" during their last year at LHS!

Insane

Kelly Beecher and Wendy Kuon support Thespian Club.

"The junior class is very close, like one big, happy family."

-Nicole Donlea

The junior class had the unique responsibility of being the upper-underclassmen. Not young enough to be badgered and hounded, but not yet old enough to do the badgering and hounding, the junior class was, well, in limbo.

Students were forced to tax their brains with such classes as Chemistry, Algebra II, U.S. History, and to top it off, Mrs. Leck's College Prep. English class. If these students didn't have good study skills when they entered their junior year, they learned them — fast. Even with all this work, many found time for other activities and everybody found time for weekend activities.

Through the year, the juniors proved themselves worthy of the honor of seniority at LHS. They were the ones drag racing in their parents' cars; they were the ones lurking in the locker rooms waiting for an unsuspecting fresh-man to enter; and they are the ones who will rule the school next year.

Aaron Fisher, Mike Anderson, and Lorenzo Gonzales make themselves available to any girls who may show interest in them.

Linda Saladino and Rosalia Aquirre show their admiration towards each other.

These juniors seem to be enjoying Mr. Tolstad's Chemistry class.

Out From Under

"It's great, just great!
A lot different than last year."

-Corren Fatu

The sophomores are no longer inexperienced freshmen. They have taken one more step into the future.

The sophomores are in touch with their grades. "I plan to do well in my classes in order to go to a decent college," stated ADRIENNE HUSEMAN.

Most of the sophomores felt that their spirit was better than last year. When challenged by the freshmen in a pep rally, the sophomores gave them a taste of their own medicine. They did this by putting paper bags over their heads during the freshmen's cheer.

The sophomores are a trendy type of class. Most are down to earth, but some reflect alternative styles, such as heavy metalers, punkers, or the more formal types.

The sophomores tried to maintain that certain grade point average. Getting their math, English, and other important college prep classes together, the sophomores rarely made it out from under the homework cram sessions.

Dusty Gleason identifies organisms in his biology class.

Shalondria Wardlow's legs are too tired to move in Stretchersize.

Sophomore Tui Ferguson rounds the corner of the Math Building as she heads to class.

Intolerable

"I hate the reputation of being a freshman"

-Denise Scarborough

Like all good freshmen, Doug Miller, Ellen Jones, Laura Anderson, Becca Garcia, and Raymond Munoz keep in line.

Being the new ones on campus isn't always that easy as this year's freshmen discovered. They faced many familiar obstacles historically reserved for the freshmen-getting booed at the assemblies, being looked upon like they were some kind of plague, or, most of all, wondering if they're the ones that will be trashcanned next.

Yes, it was rough, but we all went through "the freshmen stage" and came out alive and sane-or did we?

As time went by and they got more adjusted to life at LHS, the Class of 1990 was able to move with the flow of high school life. Some of the newly acquired privileges the freshmen enjoyed were the open campus, more freedom, better choice of classes, and the interscholastic sports. As JASON WAUDBY, a freshman football player, put it, "I like high school sports because they teach discipline."

Travis Obley and Jay Anderson help at the bloodbank by serving as the official food tasters.

Marshall "Leonardo da Vinci" Emerson creates yet another masterpiece.

Students look on in anxious anticipation at the Homecoming assembly.

"What you do touches me; what I do touches you." Corina Bagood offers moral support to Kallen Van Brunt during a quiet moment in Mr. McNutt's class.

ESTHER

Pacesetter Esther Fernandez is one senior who definitely sets the pace. She's involved in a variety of school activities. CSF, matmates, yearbook, and volleyball are just a few of those activities. She was also nominated into the Homecoming court and won the title of 1986 Homecoming Queen. Her energy is endless when it comes to offering support and spirit to LHS.

Esther possesses many leadership qualities, many of which she acquired at the many leadership and student council camps she has attended. Because of these, she holds the position of senior representative.

Her future plans include attending a four year college and majoring in political science. Her greatest aspiration is reaching her goal of becoming a lawyer.

SANDY

Throughout her four years at LHS, Sandy Alexander seemed addicted to activities. Leading crowds with a cheerful shout is just one of the ways her enthusiasm was expressed. She was a talented athlete as well as a writer for the school's newspaper.

"Sandy's greatest attribute is her caring personality," replied Mrs. Leck. Sandy was a rare student because she actually listened to her teachers and contributed to the topic in discussion. She took her work seriously and did her best. Her future plans include attending San Diego State, UCSB, or UCSD.

PACESETTER

When you hear the roar of laughter, whether in class or out on the LHS Campus this pacesetter never failed to be in the center of it.

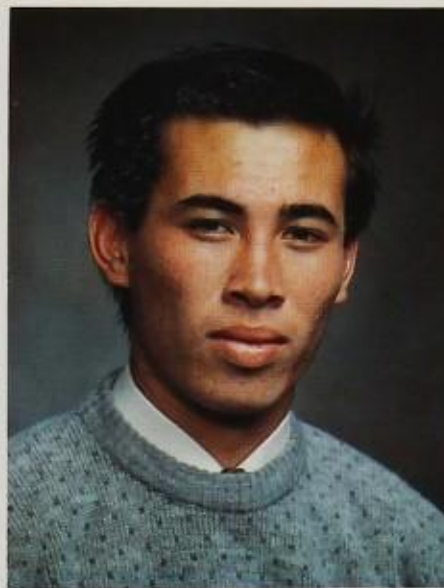

Outgoing, friendly, and with a great sense of humor, Thomas Kingsley was always telling his out-of-the-ordinary jokes and making everybody laugh.

As dedicated to athletics as he was to many clubs, Thomas spent all four years in high school wrestling.

He was Secretary/Treasurer his senior year for Spirit Club and was also one of the five finalists for the 1986 Homecoming Court.

When asked who has influenced him the most throughout high school, he replied "My best friends have influenced me the most. They were a great help when I needed them."

Thomas plans to go to a two-year junior college and UCSB and major in nutrition.

BARBARA

In her four years here at LHS, this pacesetter has been in everything from CSF to Spirit Club. Being involved academically is just one of this pacesetter's best qualities.

Besides being involved academically this person is also very active in extra-curricular activities. She is the CSF President as well as being on the Executive Board, and CSF life member on top of that. She has also been on the principal's list all four years with an 4.0 average. Among other things, she has received as English Achievement Award and the National Merit Letter of Commendation. These, along with other things, are what make Barbara Towns a truly "In Touch" Pacesetter.

MICHAEL

As a Varsity wrestler, music lover, and spirited student, Michael Miclat truly earned the honor of Pacesetter.

"I enjoyed being involved because I wanted people to appreciate me," he explained.

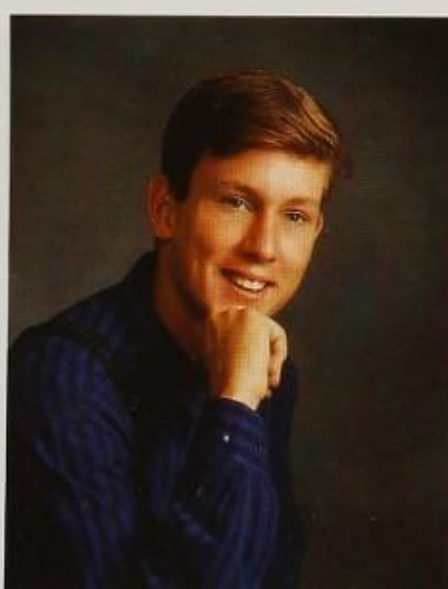

At lunch, Mike could be found at a meeting, a class competition, or if it was a slow day, relaxing with his friends. His favorite part of school was the time he spent with his friends. "My friends made school fun," Mike stated.

In the future, Mike hopes to attend Northridge and major in music business and later become a musician or a sound audio technician.

Mike is very spirited and loves being involved. He believes that spirit is very important. "Without it, we'd be b u m m e d ! " he exclaimed.

DEAN

Friendly, smart, and a bit out of the ordinary . . . These words come to mind when you think of Pacesetter Dean Fairbanks. His friendly smile and non-conformist attitude made him stand out from the rest.

One case in point: How many people do you know plan to major in Chemical Engineering with a minor in Nuclear Engineering? Well, this Pacesetter does and he knows where he's going in life, in his words, "Where the bucks are!"

Dean's years at LHS were spent involved in many activities including Interact, CSF, Student Council, and tennis, his favorite being those "alive" Student Council meetings on Tuesday mornings.

Dean's future appears very bright and he plans to attend college at UCSB.

BILL

What's the driving force behind a Pacesetter? What makes them so involved? Success? Fame? Fortune and glory? Or a combination of these things?

No one can really say what drives this Pacesetter on, but there is a definite something that makes Bill Kimlinger a perfect choice.

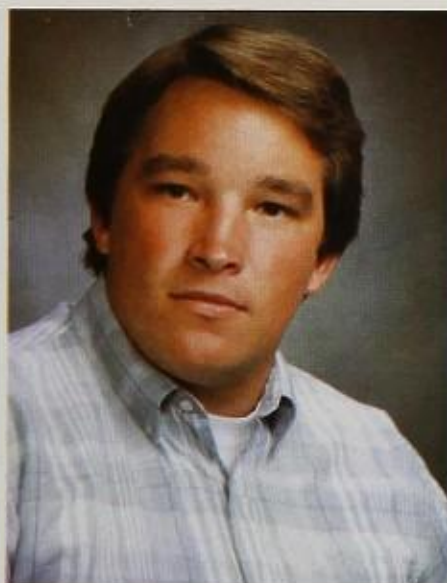

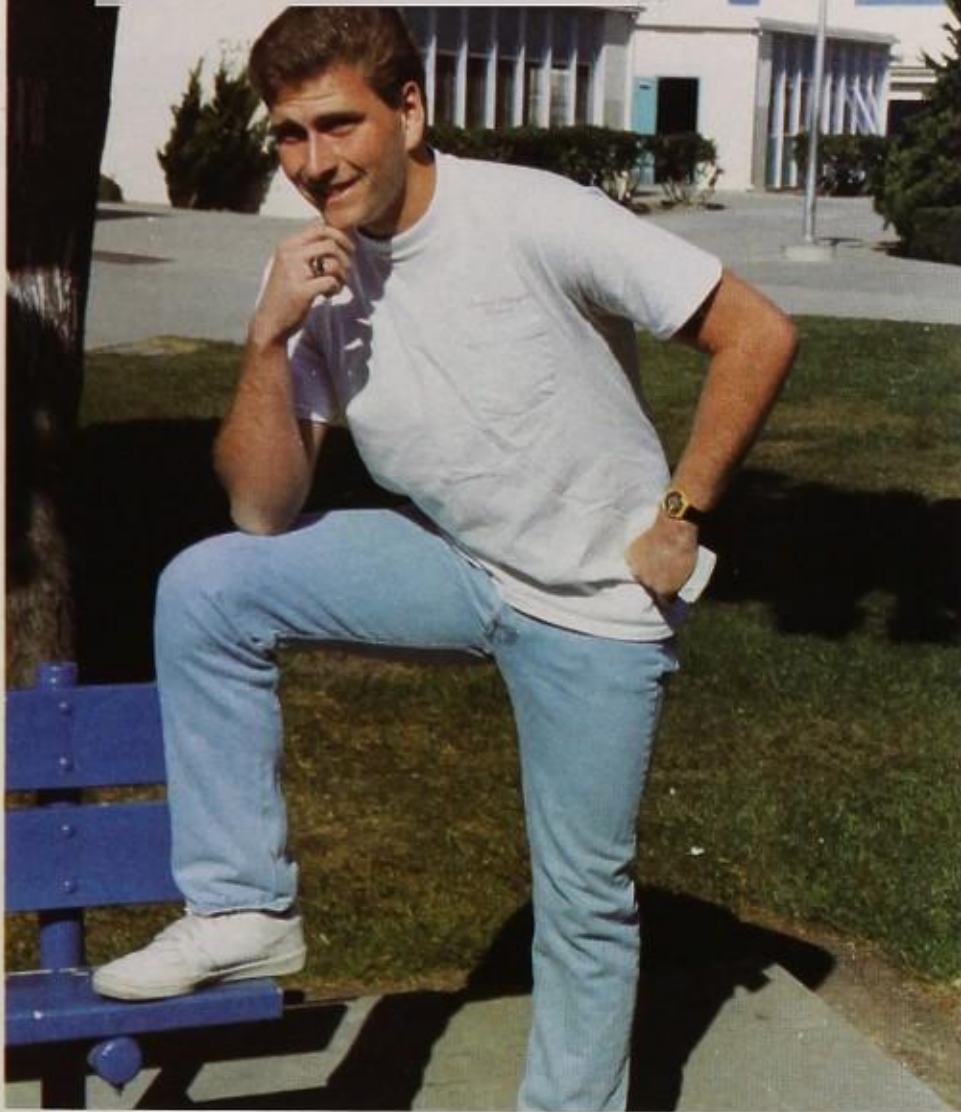

CSF, Varsity Soccer, various choirs, Madrigals, and high academic achievements just scratch the surface of Bill's high school involvement.

When not at school Bill can often be found singing, reading an Ian Fleming novel, playing soccer, carousing with friends, collecting coins, or hating his vegetables.

Although he may not be overly crazy about school and despises American Lit., college is a definite must. Two years at Loyola Marymount and a degree at USC in Pharmacy is in this truly justifiable Pacesetter's future.

SUSAN

Susan Carey was a little person whose leadership stood out big in many areas. She was active all four years of high school. She was on the Principals List, Honor Roll, in CSF, Interact, and Sec./Treas. of the Letter Club. Her sports included cross country and track where she lettered all four years.

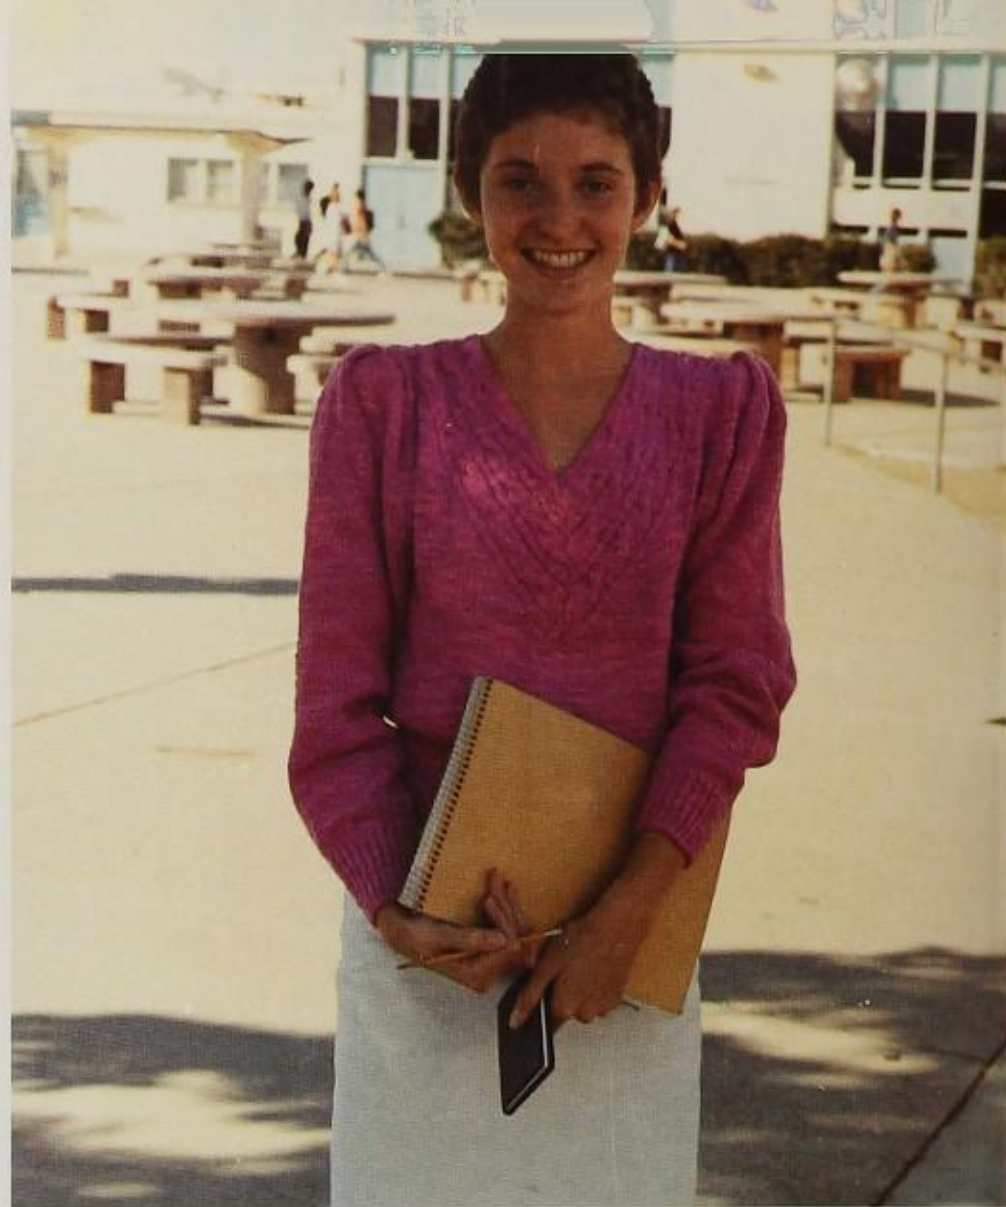

Besides being active in school, Susan is also involved in her church group at La Purisima. Her favorite hobbies are running and bike riding.

After high school Susan plans to go to college and hopefully run on their cross country and track teams.

Susan's favorite quote which she got from her sister is, "If you're gonna run, run fast."

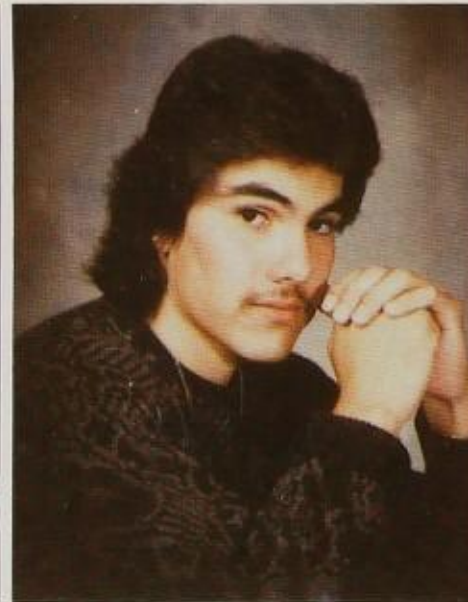

Susan was known by her classmates to be sweet and friendly to everyone she knows.

JOE

Students at LHS noticed that Joe Aldridge possessed all the qualities that a true Pacesetter embodies. Joe's activities include Interact, CSF, Football, Basketball, and Honor Roll.

Joe wants to go to Cal Poly and major in Civil Engineering and hopes to get a scholarship for Football.

Family and friends influenced Joe in being so active during high school. When Joe won the Ice Cream eating contest and a musical chair contest for class spirit points, these events were etched in his mind forever. He'll also never forget the times when he broke his nose twice and his arm once while playing football.

When asked if he would change anything, Joe replied, "I made it through, so I wouldn't change anything."

TRACY

With her charming grin and spirited personality, it's easy to see why Tracy McGregor symbolizes spiritleading at Lompoc High.

Being a spiritleader all four years of high school, Tracy received the honor of being named Captain her senior year. She was also chosen as an NCA Superstar Spiritleader during summer camp. As a result, Tracy got a chance to appear during half-time at the Aloha Bowl football game in Hawaii over Christmas vacation. She earned $1400. to pay for all her expenses.

Tracy has been taking dance classes for twelve years, showing her determination to succeed in what she does. Her involvement in clubs and her other achievements led to her being elected to the Homecoming Court.

Tracy's future plans include going to college and pursuing a career in the business field. She hopes to attend a college in the L.A. area.

SETH

If someone were to describe this Pacesetter, that person might say he was unique, smart, and highly individualistic. In fact, this person believes that everybody should be his own person and not try to mold himself after anyone else. He is Seth Neilson.

Seth describes himself as THE school boy during his first two years at LHS, but he made up for lost time in his last years. Even with his interest in school, Seth still managed to become an important part of the soccer team, an active member of Student Council, a Smoke Signal Staff member, and still maintain a 4.0 GPA.

Whatever Seth decides to do in the future, we know he's going to enjoy himself, because as he puts it, "All I want to do is have fun!"

In Touch With . . .

BARBARA

Cheers being chanted and an ear to ear grin on her face showed how much Barbara Tobin expressed her school spirit. Whether it was at sports events, class competitions, or assemblies Barbara was there cheering with the crowd.

Being involved is just another of Barbara's assets. She likes being active and she's definitely not afraid of trying new things. She was active in Madrigals, Interact, Thespians, CSF, Spirit Club, and Speech Club.

She is spirited, enthusiastic, and outgoing. At the same time she's responsible and understanding. Barbara's future plans will include the pursuit of a musical career. We all have enjoyed Barbara's lilting voice as a part of Madrigals and Concert Choir and we know she will be a success.

Her dedication and spirit has made Barbara Tobin a true Pacesetter.

Being so tall, Brian Kuipers always has to look down to observe the "little people".

Juniors Stand Tall

Did you ever find yourself with a sore back from having to lean down so often? Or your head is cocked temporarily from having to duck tree limbs? Or surrendering your front row seat so you wouldn't block someone's view? If you answered yes to any or all of these questions then you were one of the few, mighty and proud!

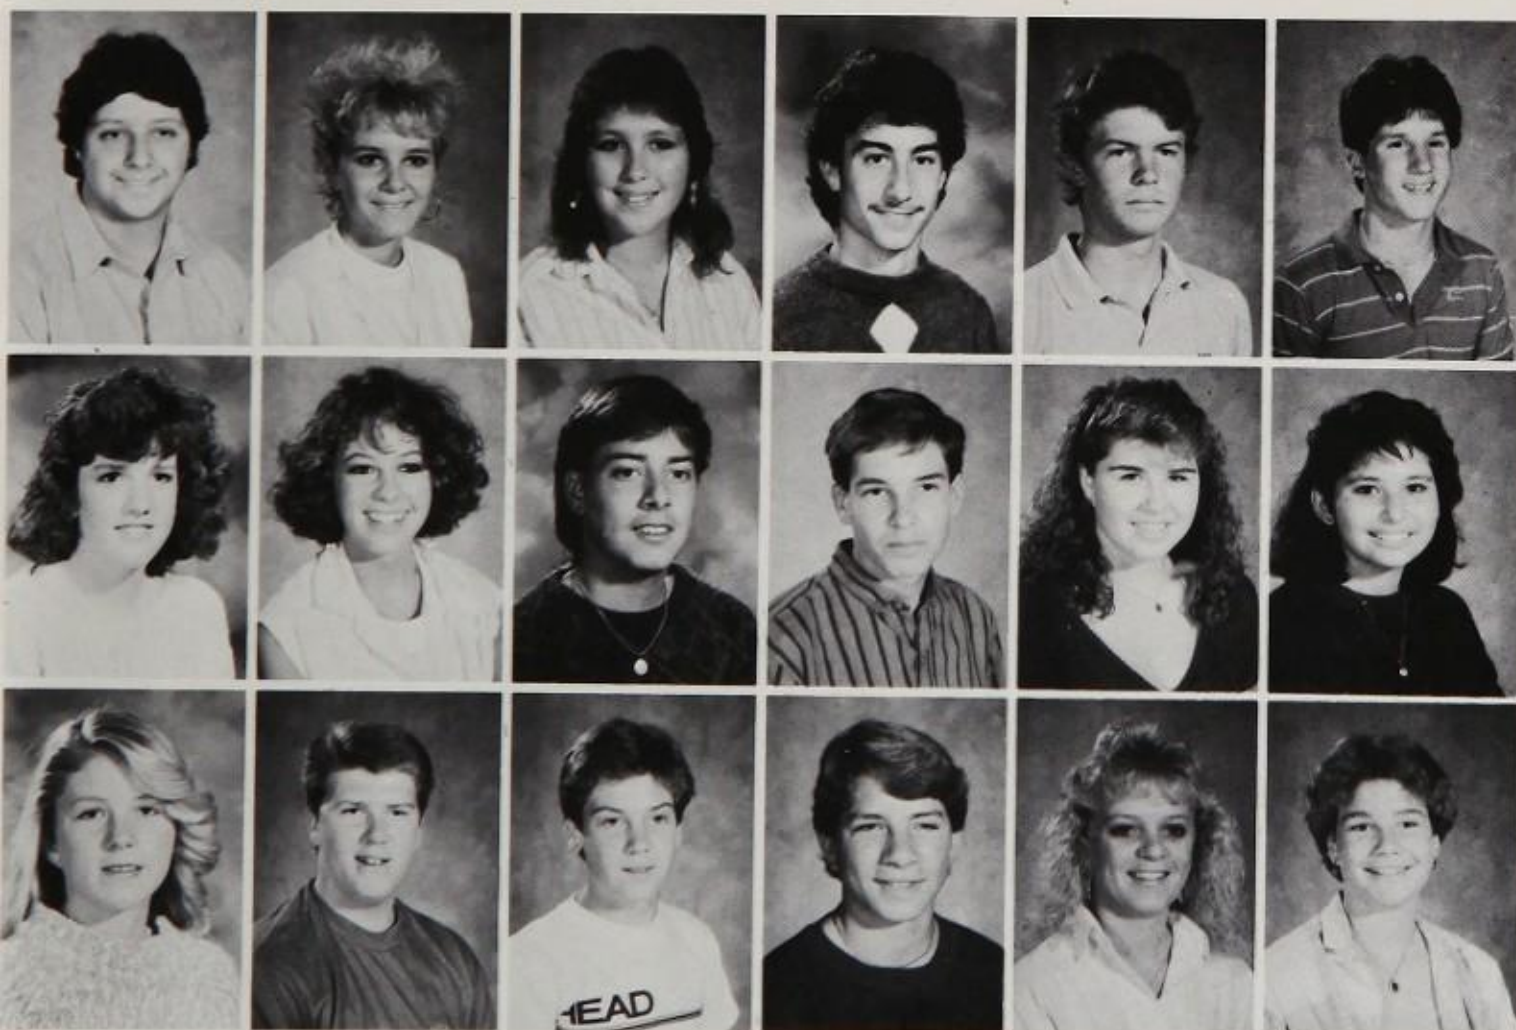

Ben Tate strongly "hated" his height because "I think I'm too short."

Robert Ligon commented sarcastically,

"The most memorable and rewarding experience due to my height was the time I helped a poor little kitten down from a high tree limb."

David McCuen found "that it is easier to find people in a crowd but I could be easily picked out of a police line up."

Matt Bailey had a great comeback that drenches the "too tall" jokes. "When someone walks up to you and says, 'How is the weather up there?' You spit on them and tell them 'It's raining!'"

Tracy McGregor leads Lompoc to victory at the Burger King Hamburger Feed.

... Vs. Cabrillo

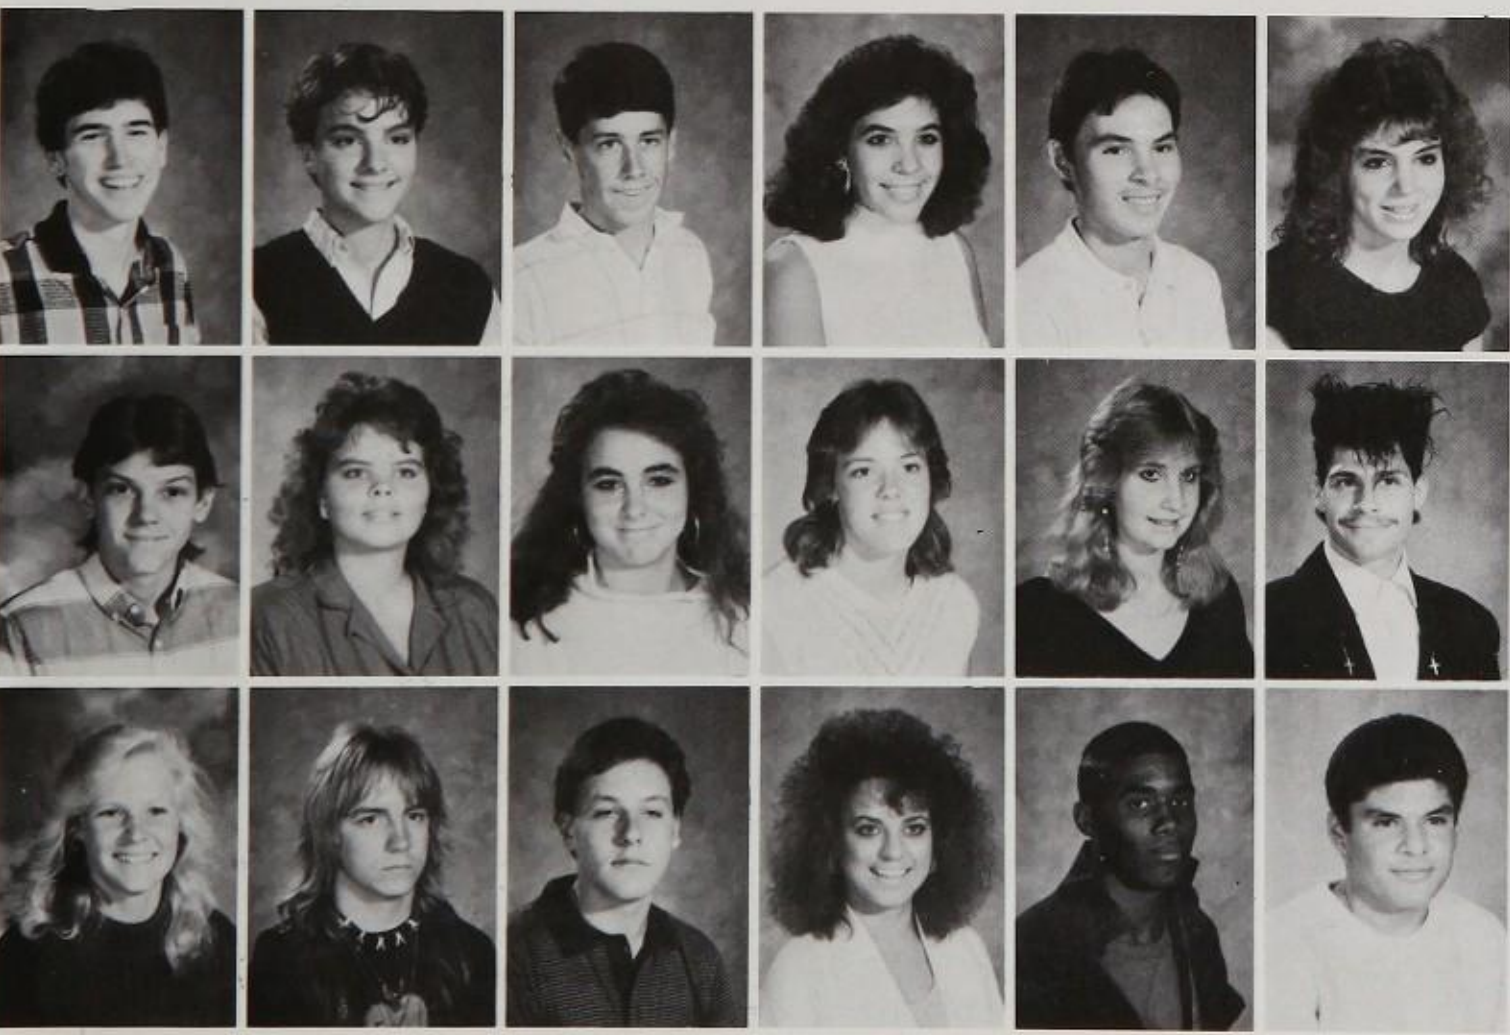

Through the years Lompoc and Cabrillo have maintained a fairly healthy rivalry. Each year the week before the Big Game is designated Lompoc Cabrillo Week.

In 1986 Lompoc made a clean sweep by winning the spiritleader hamburger feed at Burger King, the football team taco feed at Taco Bell, and most importantly, the Big Game.

On the LHS campus, each day was designated by a certain theme or activity. On one day students came to school and found the campus filled with blue and white balloons. During every lunch hour that week there was a class competition. The highlight of the week's activities was the big Spirit Assembly Friday morning. This year was unique. Our great marching band paraded through the campus, drawing students out of their classes and into the gym where Mr. Paisola once again led us in the "Fight Cheer."

Although the rivalry between LHS and Cabrillo was maintained throughout the year in our sporting events, the two schools' students share many friendships as shown when the two bands march together during halftime at the Big Game.

Broken Bones

A sea of casts, slings, braces, and crutches began this year for Juniors. Broken bones was a subject many students and teachers could tell you all about.

This year several students had the experience of a broken bone or two, along with a few teachers who "broke out" also. This was a contagious disease among our LHS campus. Many causes were from injuries in sports, skateboarding, bicycling, some skiing, and a few unusual cases from Brave Trek.

Sometimes those extracurricular activities took a toll on your body. Milk. It does a body good? Try mentioning that to those unfortunate juniors who had to live with a cast for a few months.

Chris Wright is kept in step with help from Keith Royal.

Swatch Out!

The Swatch watch was the "Sign of the Times" at L.H.S.

Swatch watches were hot at Lompoc High!

In comparison to the mundane digital watches, Swatches are bright, colorful, intriguing, and extremely original.

At L.H.S. alone, there were over one-hundred Swatches that varied in design, size, color, scent, and price. The price range for a Swatch was from thirty-five to one-hundred dollars.

"Swatches are fun, but now I have to worry about coordinating my Swatch guards with my outfits," babbled Karlie Graham.

Since the release of the first Swatch, the Swatch name became a household word. Swatch was not just for watches. The brand name could be found on clothes, bags, glasses, and the list went on.

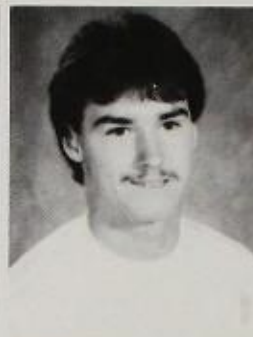

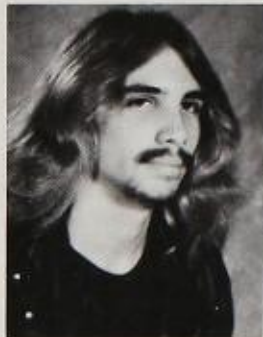

"The goal was to find a Swatch that no one else had," expressed Leslie Waudby about Swatch watches.

Top T's

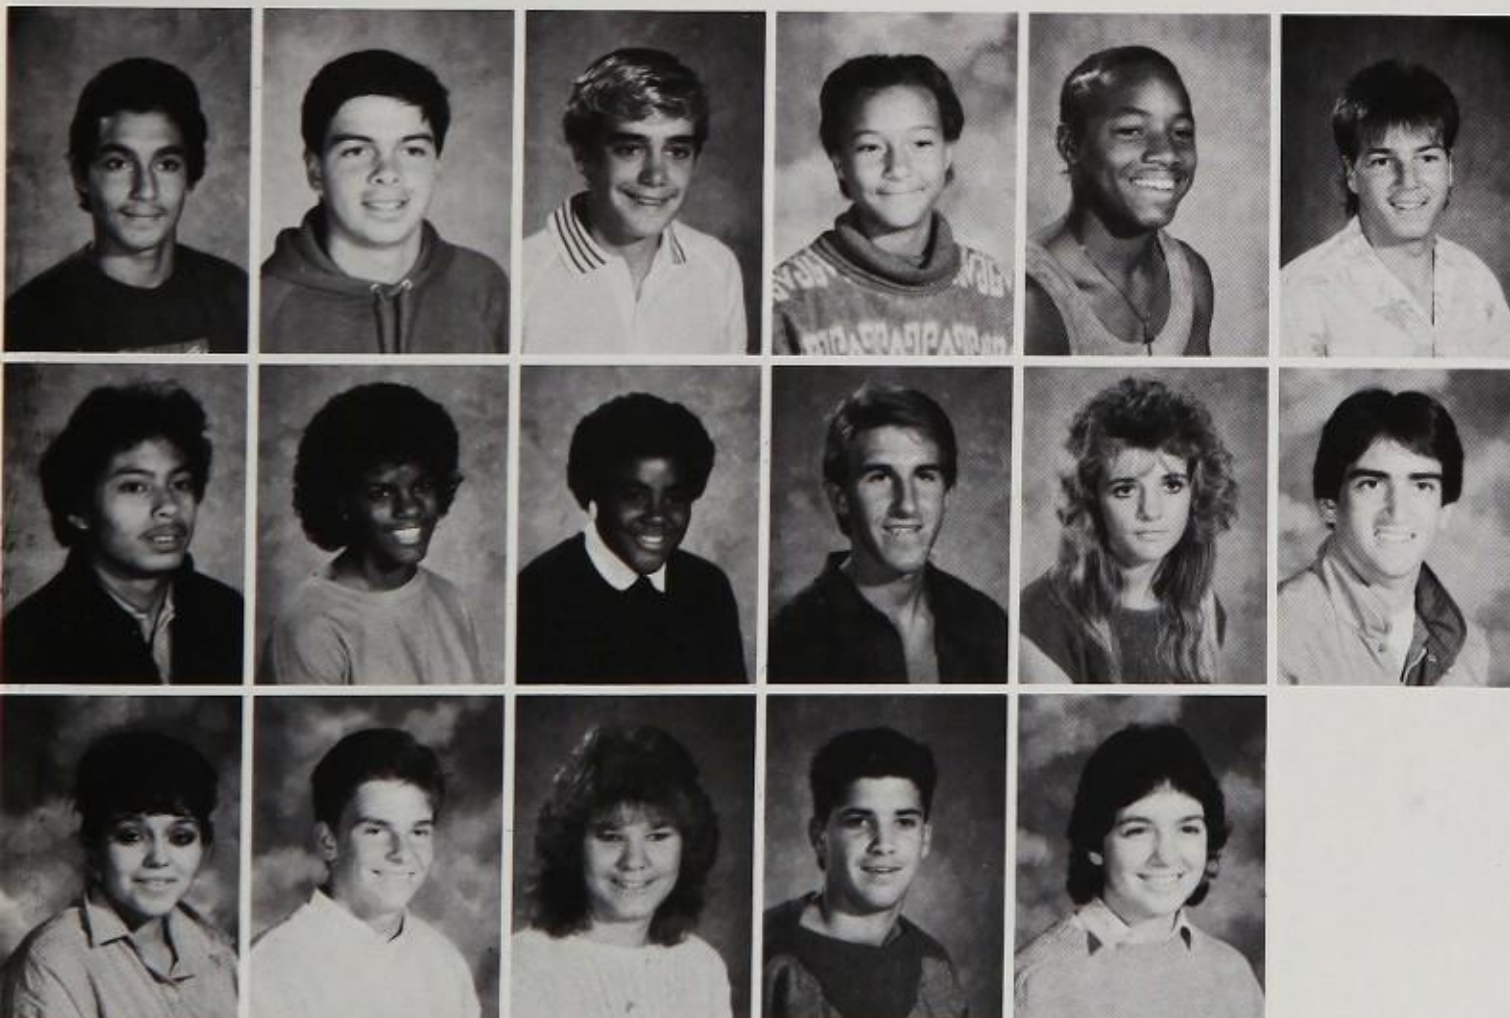

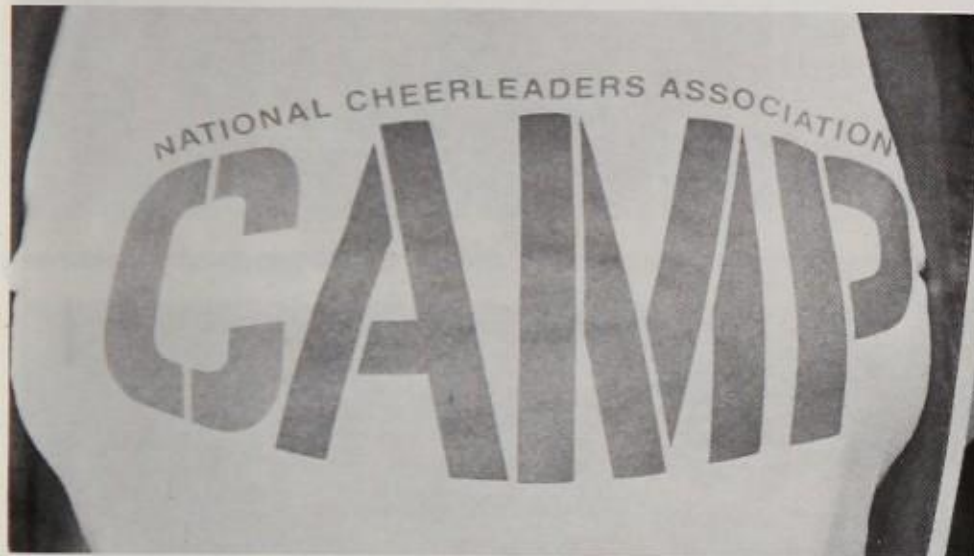

T-shirts have always been a very big part of every teenagers life, varying anywhere from "Frankie Says" to the classic "Hard Rock Cafe" T-shirt, from "Gumby" to "Giorgio."

'86/'87 was the time of originality. Concert shirts were a must, mainly because they were a small piece of nostalgia. But also they proved that you were really there.

Mickey Mouse shirts showed that the owner was a sort of "cutesy-cool" kinda person.

Last but not least were the surfing T-shirts. A lot of teenagers, surfer or not, owned some sort of surfing shirt, whether it was the casual California, or the ever popular Sex Wax shirt.

... At the Movies!

Go ahead, make my day ... Play it again, Sam ... Use the Force, Luke ... Frankly, my dear, I don't give a ...

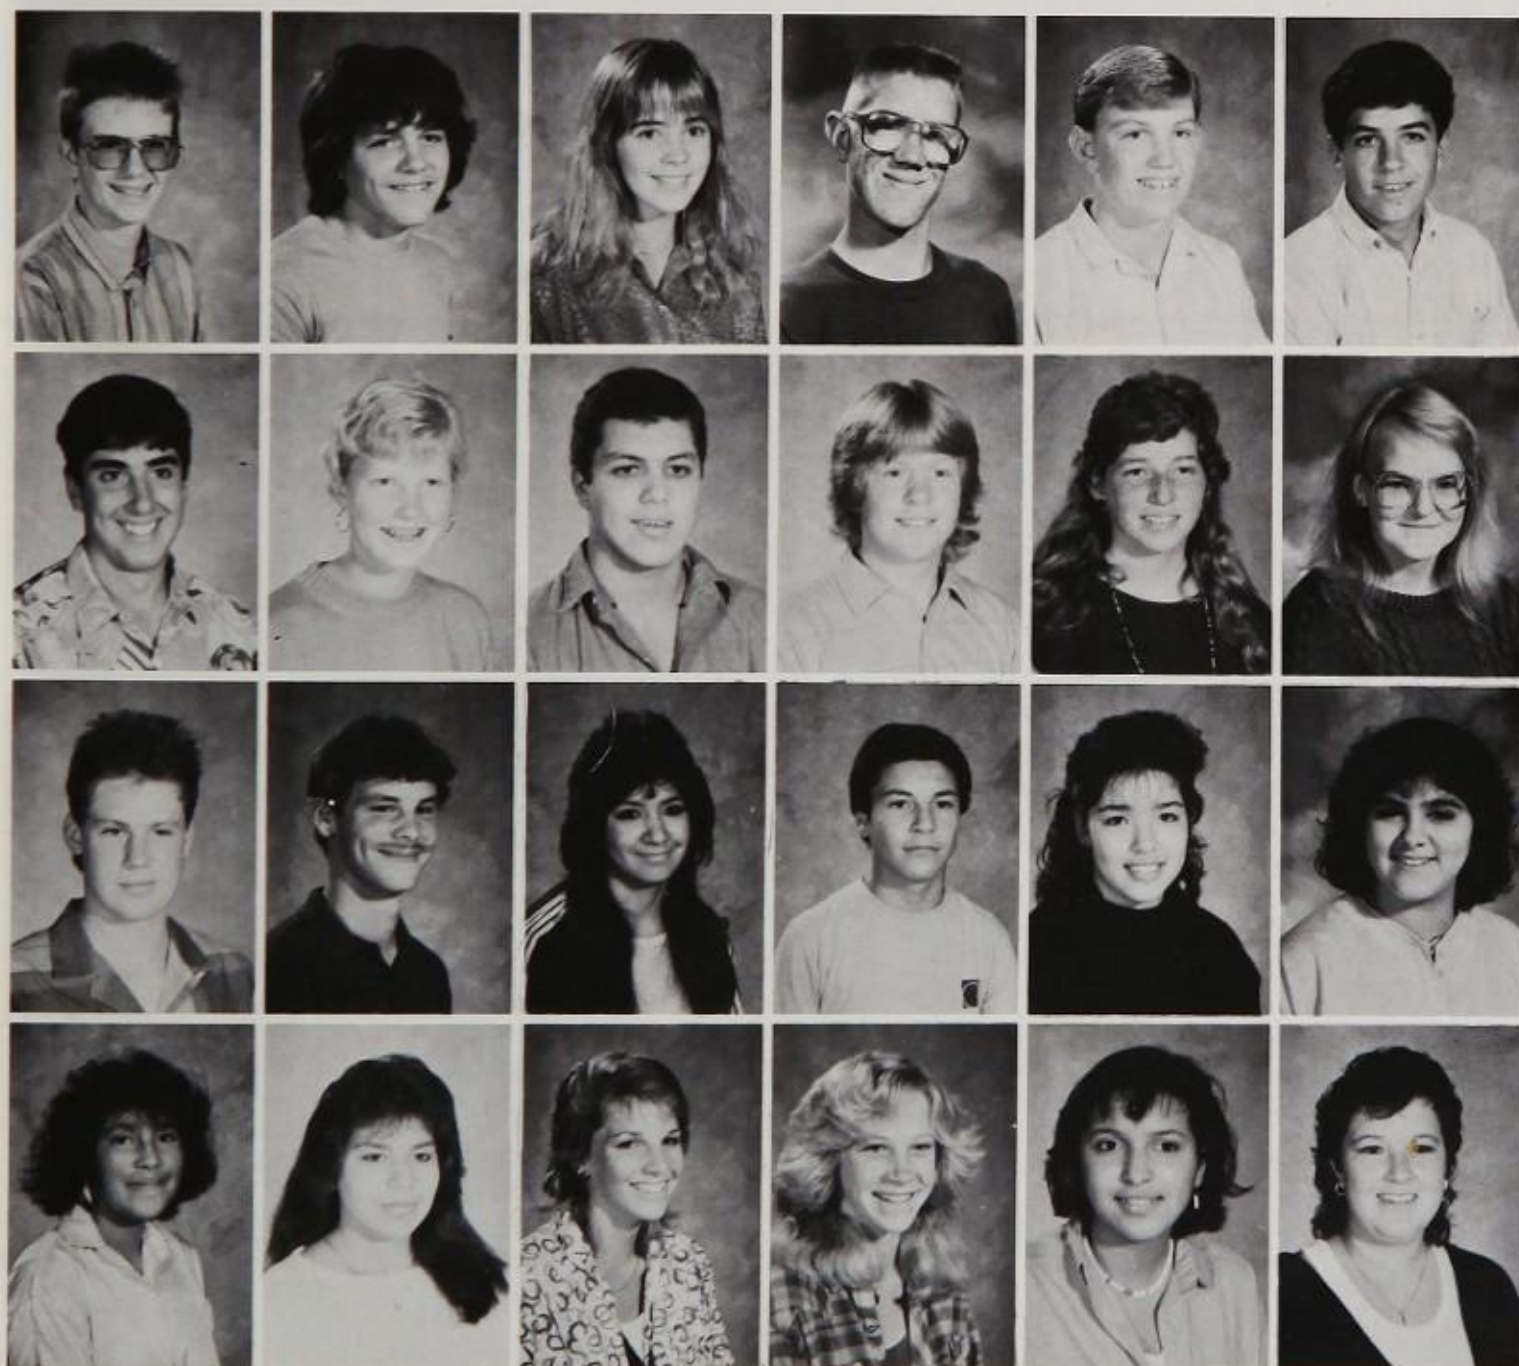

The theater's lights dim, the audience grows silent; the smell of hot, buttered popcorn permeates the air. Old gum sticks to the soles of shoes and ushers knock feet off chairs with their flashlights ...

Lights! Camera! Action! It's the movies and they're as exciting now as they were when the celluloid first hit the big screen. But what made the movies so hot? Intense drama? Sidesplitting comedy? Mind-boggling special effects? Tom Cruise? Perhaps a few reasons for its popularity is because it's fun, it's entertaining, it has something for everyone, and it beats doing homework for two hours. "I liked Top Gun," said Amanda Brooks. "I liked the plane scenes and the action."

If for some reason you didn't have a free weekend and happened to miss Freddy's second Nightmare or never found out if Darth Vader was Luke's father, have no fear, video is here! From Indiana Jones to Friday the 13th to Mary Poppins, a Cannes Festival is only a VCR away.

We Want Ice Cream

Chocolate, vanilla, cookies n' cream, quarterback crunch, rainbow sherbert, and the list goes on and on. The list of favorite ice cream flavors that is. For many of this year's sophomores ice cream placed number one on the list this year as being their favorite food for lunch.

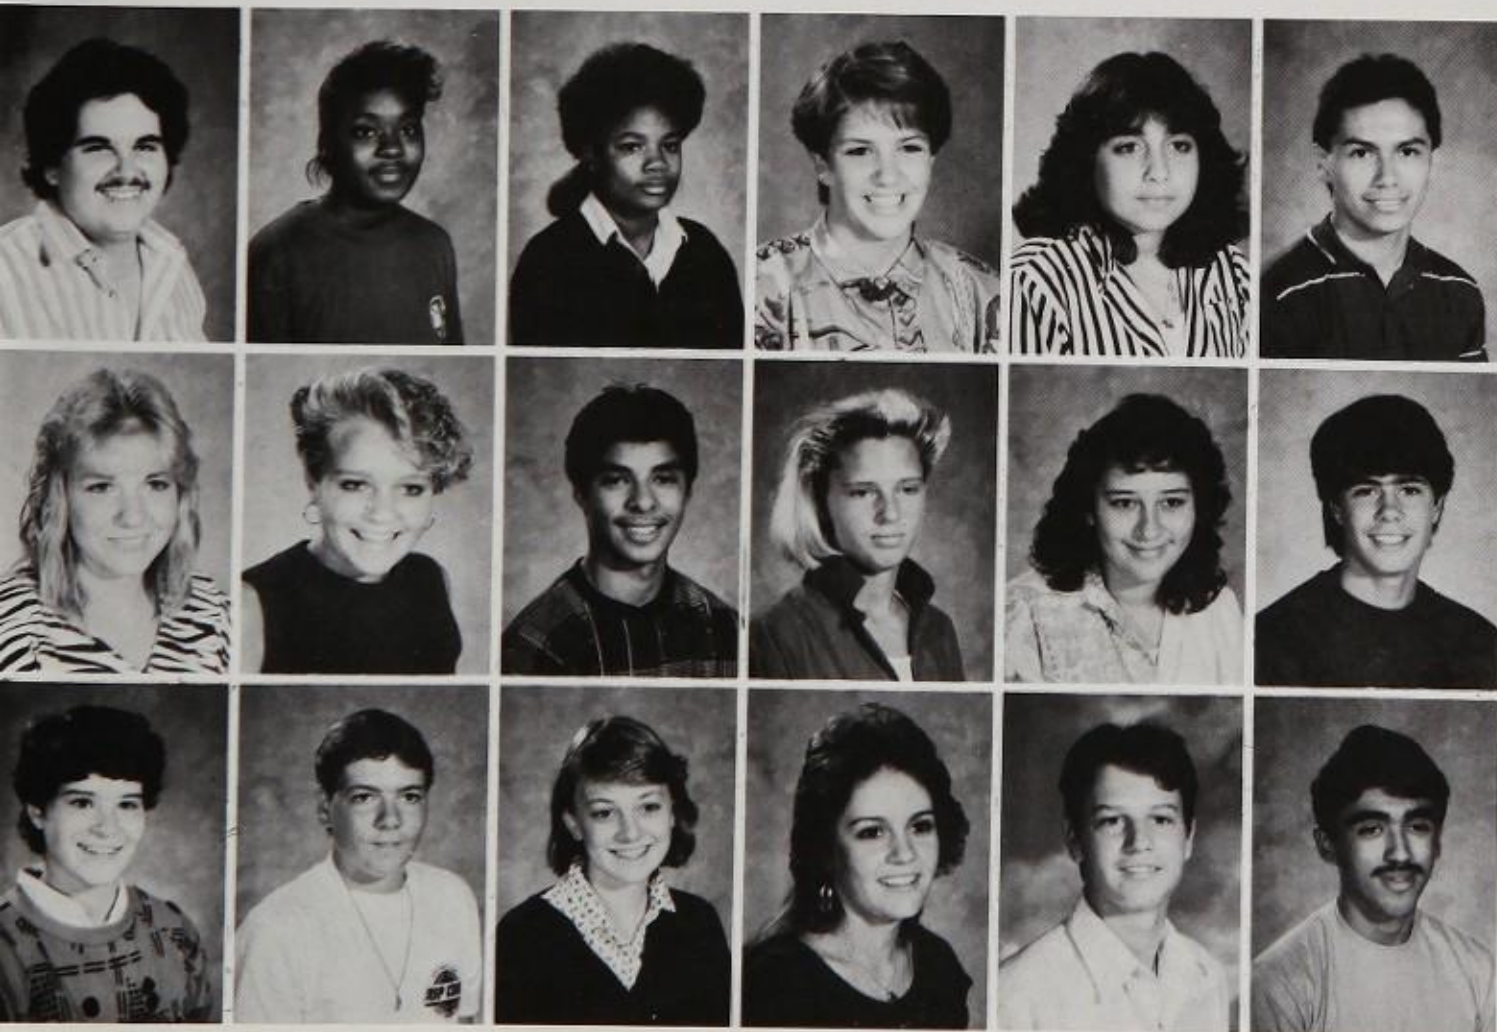

No longer did Carl's Jr. and Taco Bell appeal to this group; their most desirable place to go was either Thrifty's or Baskin Robbins in order to get two scoops of their favorite flavor.

"My favorite flavor is pink bubble gum but I don't eat it anymore because everybody makes fun of me when I do. They say it's for little kids but I love it," stated Carrie Nielson.

"I love eating ice cream, especially at lunch time," said Lydia Castro. She also summed up the sophomore class' feelings on the subject of this dairy product, "I scream, you scream, we all scream for ice cream."

Adrienne Huseman and Erin Sparks enjoy two scoops of their favorite flavor at lunch.

Tom Campbell and Randy Dickau end up climbing the trees waiting for Friday to come.

Thank God It's Friday

After four days Friday finally rolls around. The bell rings and freedom. The weekend is finally here.

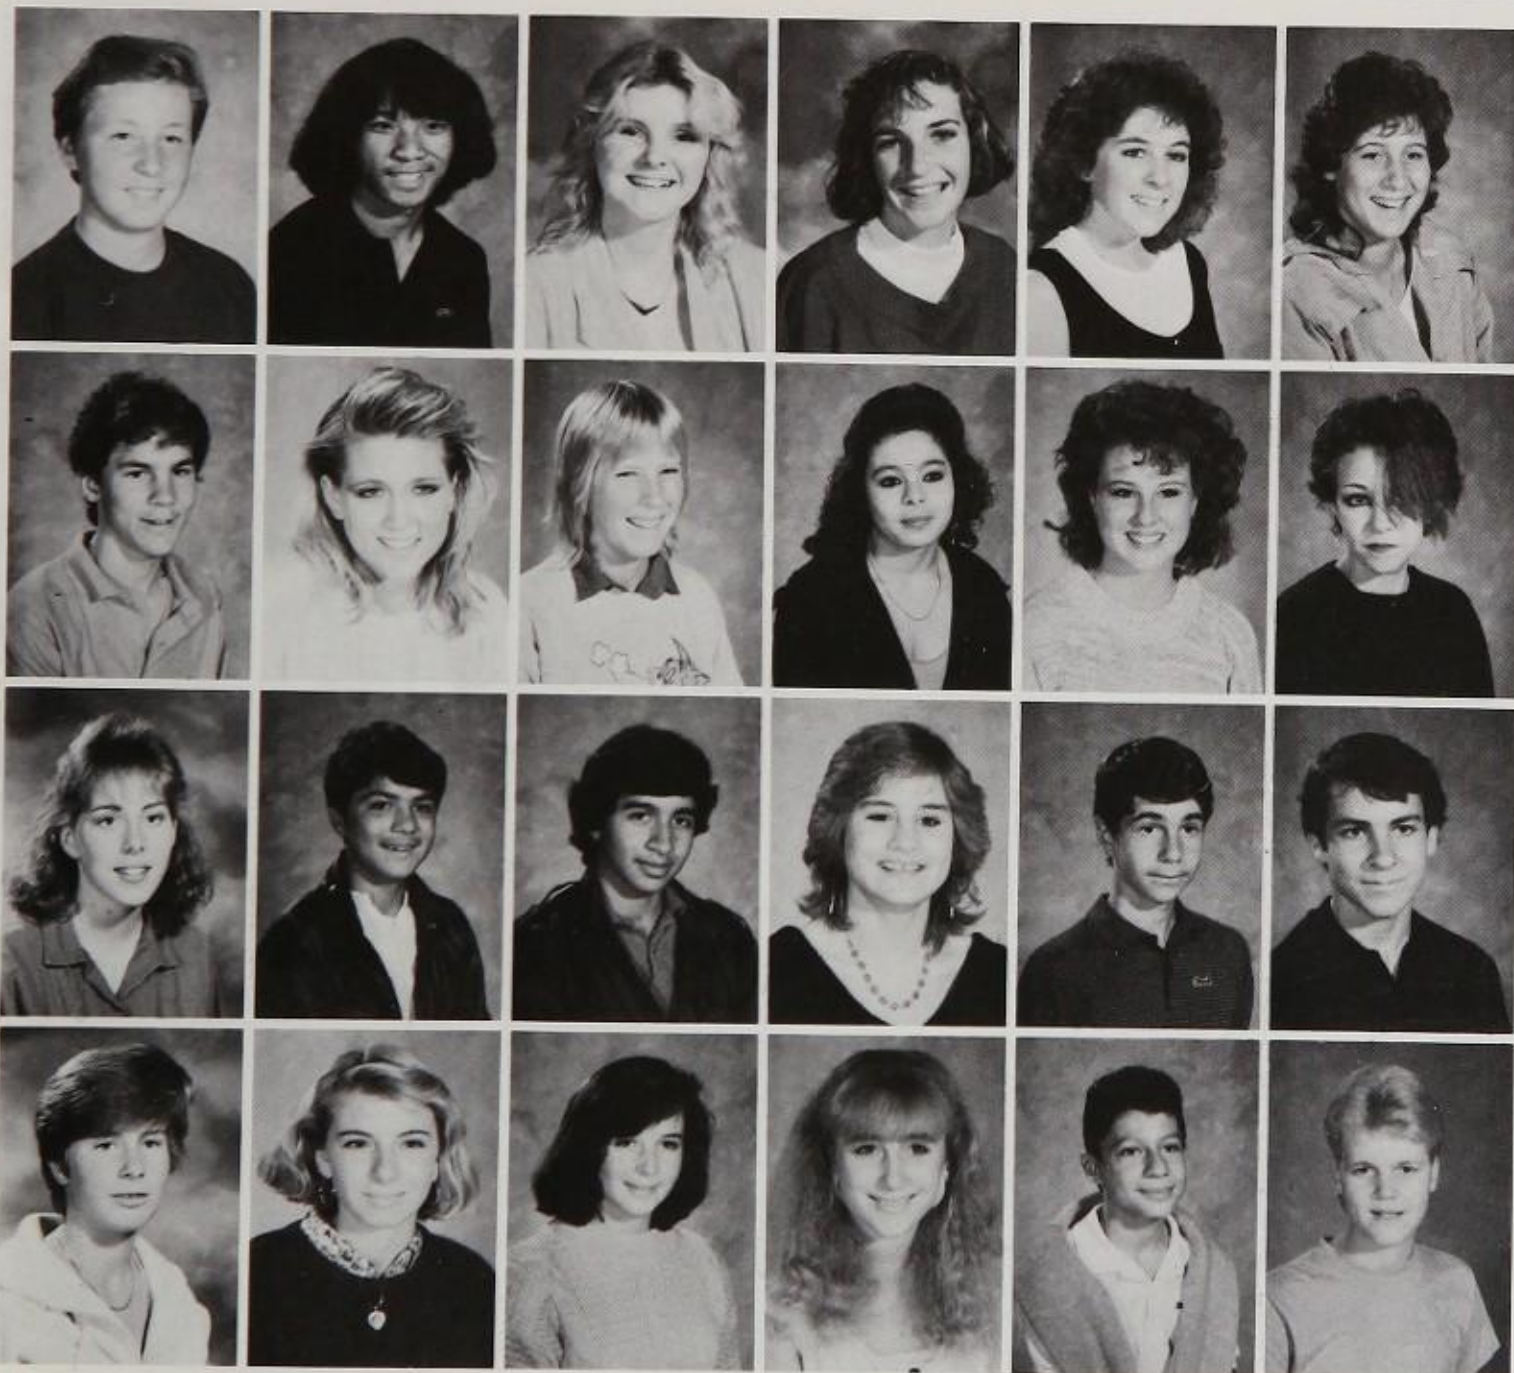

Two days of no homework, badgering teachers or worrying about the guy who sits behind you in language class.

The weekend is when rest and relaxation take over all brain functions. Whether your R and R consists of going out for a session out at Jalama, going to Santa Barbara for a bike ride along the beach or just kicking back in front of the tube to watch re-runs it is all done to please one person, ourselves.

But after those two days the dreaded Monday is back again to bring us back to another week of homework every night, those badgering teachers and that same guy that sits behind you in class.

"Friday I like to go out for a night on the town and Saturday go out to Jalama for a nice kickback day at the beach", commented Niki Holloway.

Cut Above the Rest.

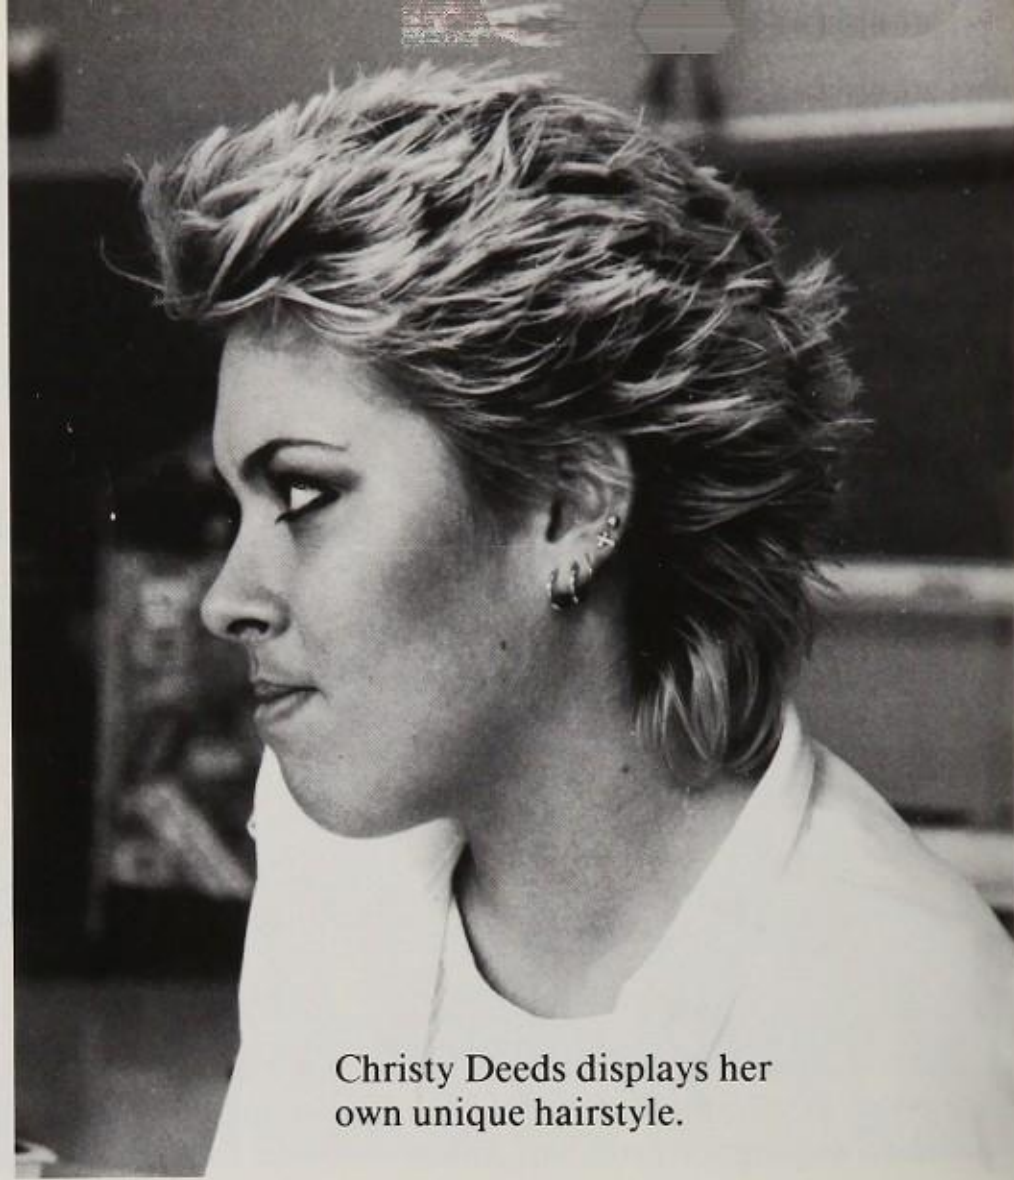

Were you considered a stranger in school. Was it your clothes? No way! Was it the way you walked? Of course not. It was what we called "styling" hairstyling that is.

This past year hairstyles were categorized in several different types. For the guys, it was a classic "airport look" or flat top as it was normally called. Then there was the "Part on one side," lend me your comb look." We occasionally saw a wild spike.

For the ladies on campus although we didn't see an illustrious beehive or a fancy page boy, we did see bobs and perms. Once in a while we would catch sight of a new creation.

When asked what she thought about the hairstyles of today Annette Villegas quipped enthusiastically, "Some hairstyles today are just out of the ordinary."

Christy Deeds displays her own unique hairstyle.

Here, There, Everywhere!

Some people seem to think that the Hacky Sack is a thing of the past, a game for 'kids.' This year, however, almost everyday at lunch one could count on a game just like clockwork.

When they weren't in class, they hacked; when they weren't eating, they hacked; when they weren't sleeping, they hacked. It was as if every spare moment was spent playing this game.

Sophomores Aram Bullock and Doug Hoover, the Hack Masters themselves, described the point of the game as "Not merely kicking a leather ball around in a group of guys, but rather reaching deep into the inner depths of the mind to sharpen the instinctive reflexes that lie there."

The art of the Hacky may have seemed trivial to some, but it was a sport that required determination, skill, and intense unity among all players.

Who's Hot

He's totally fine, sweet, and has a good personality.

She's fine and has a rad body.

They are the two seniors the freshmen class dream about most: Steve Lynes and Shannon Russell. When asked who their favorite heart throbs were, and why, the freshmen were quick to respond, once they knew they wouldn't have to identify themselves. While looks were important to guys and girls, the girls also took personality into consideration. Every year there are some seniors who stand out to the freshmen, and this year was no different.

Me . . . Late?

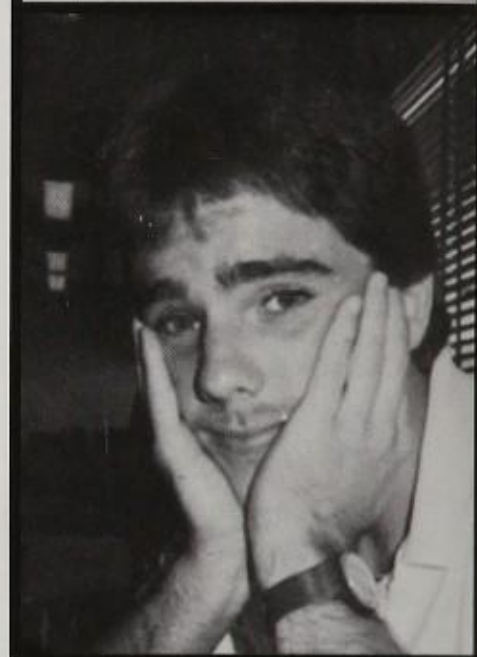

Were our parents getting too smart? Catching on to our same old tricks? Just wonder how many times you told your mom that you were late because "I had to take everybody home!" or "I fell asleep!"

Those were just a couple of the classic reasons we gave our parents when we "stumbled" in late on weekends. Here are some more excuses that I'm sure we all can relate to.

Live to Tell

If you had 100 hours to live,
what would you do?

Most of us live day to day, thinking we have our whole lives ahead of us to accomplish our life long dreams, be it a trip to that far away land or accomplishing that sought after goal. In our future lies days, weeks, months, years! All the time in the world is at our fingertips.

But what if suddenly your future was taken away from you and all that was left was 100 hours (4 days, 4 hours)?

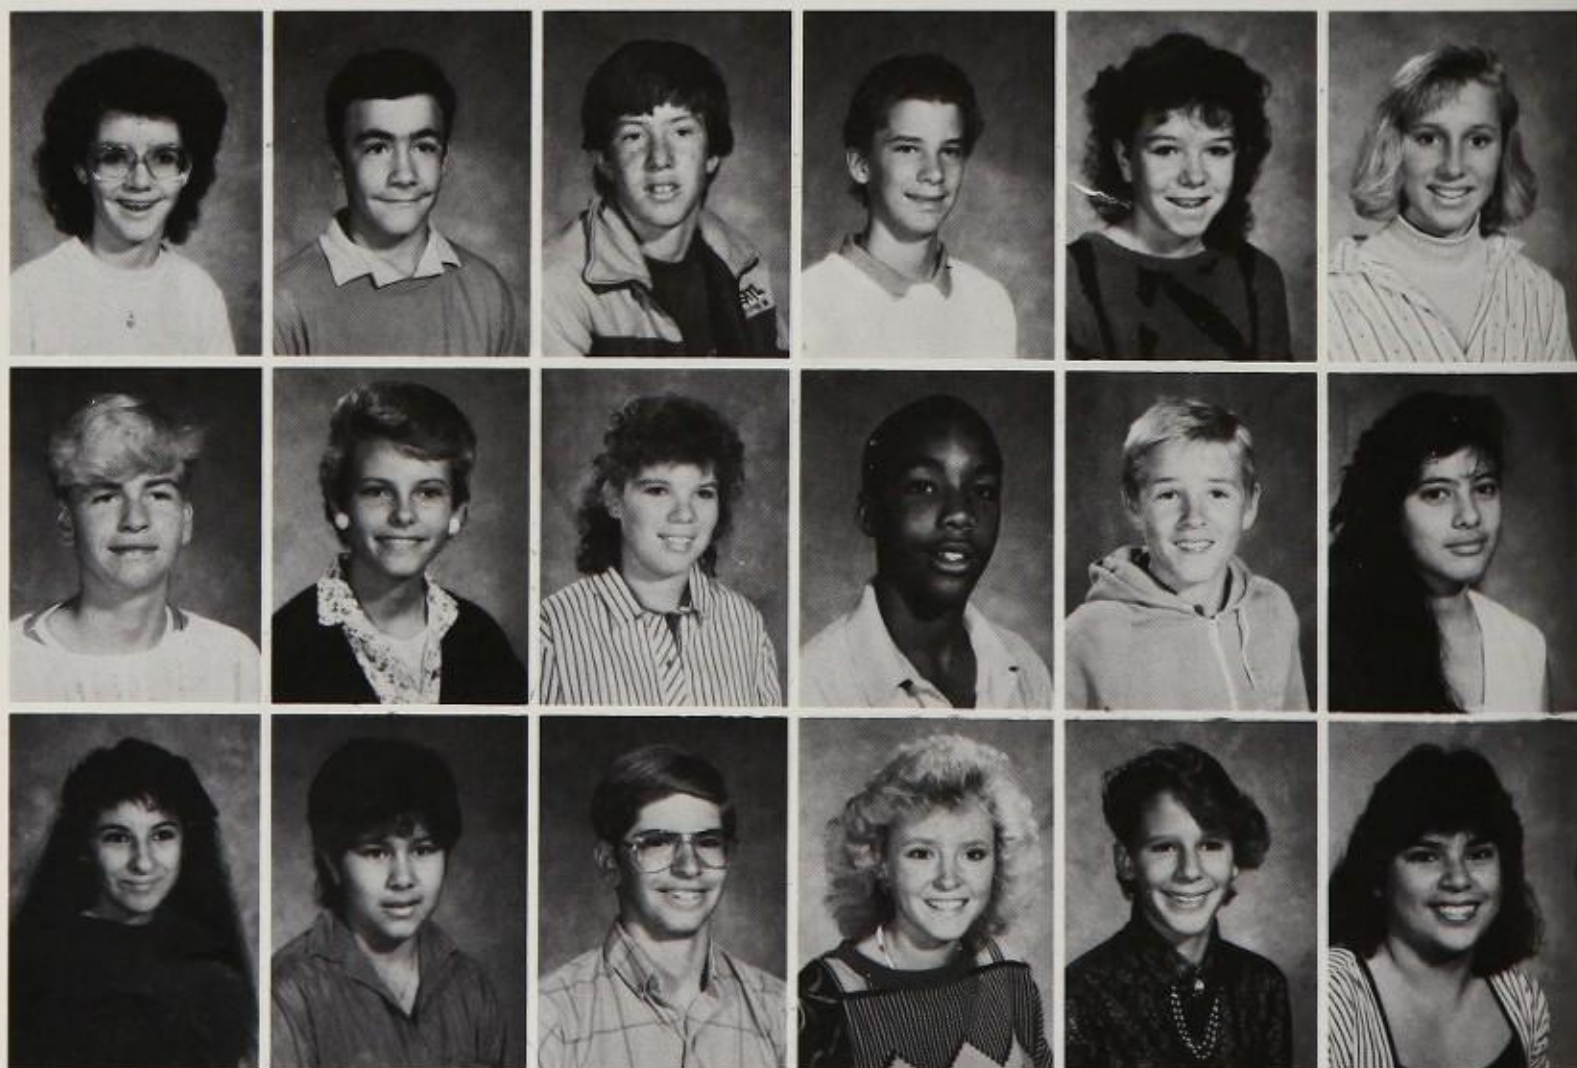

Would you make a mad scramble to do everything you possibly could? Or would you just relax and spend your last few hours in leisure? There are many endless possibilities but the choice depends on each individual's personal goals and values.

There are many things out there in the big world to be explored and conquered. Maybe we shouldn't wait until it's too late.

Super Sales

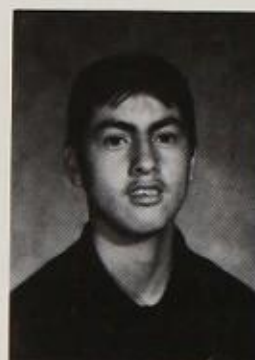

Some students left LHS well prepared for the business world, not just through their education but through the process of candy sales. The candy sales were used by many of our clubs and organizations. The money raised through candy sales was used to pay for new uniforms, trips, and other things. Some of the candy selling groups were Interact, Spirit Club, Cheerleaders, Band, and Matmates. The kinds of candy that they sold included lollipops, candy bars, M&Ms, and sweet tarts. With the large number of people selling candy for their groups there was a lot of pressure on the teachers and parents for "Easy Sales".

Nicholas Nijinsky is overwhelmed by sales.

Rasta Vibrations

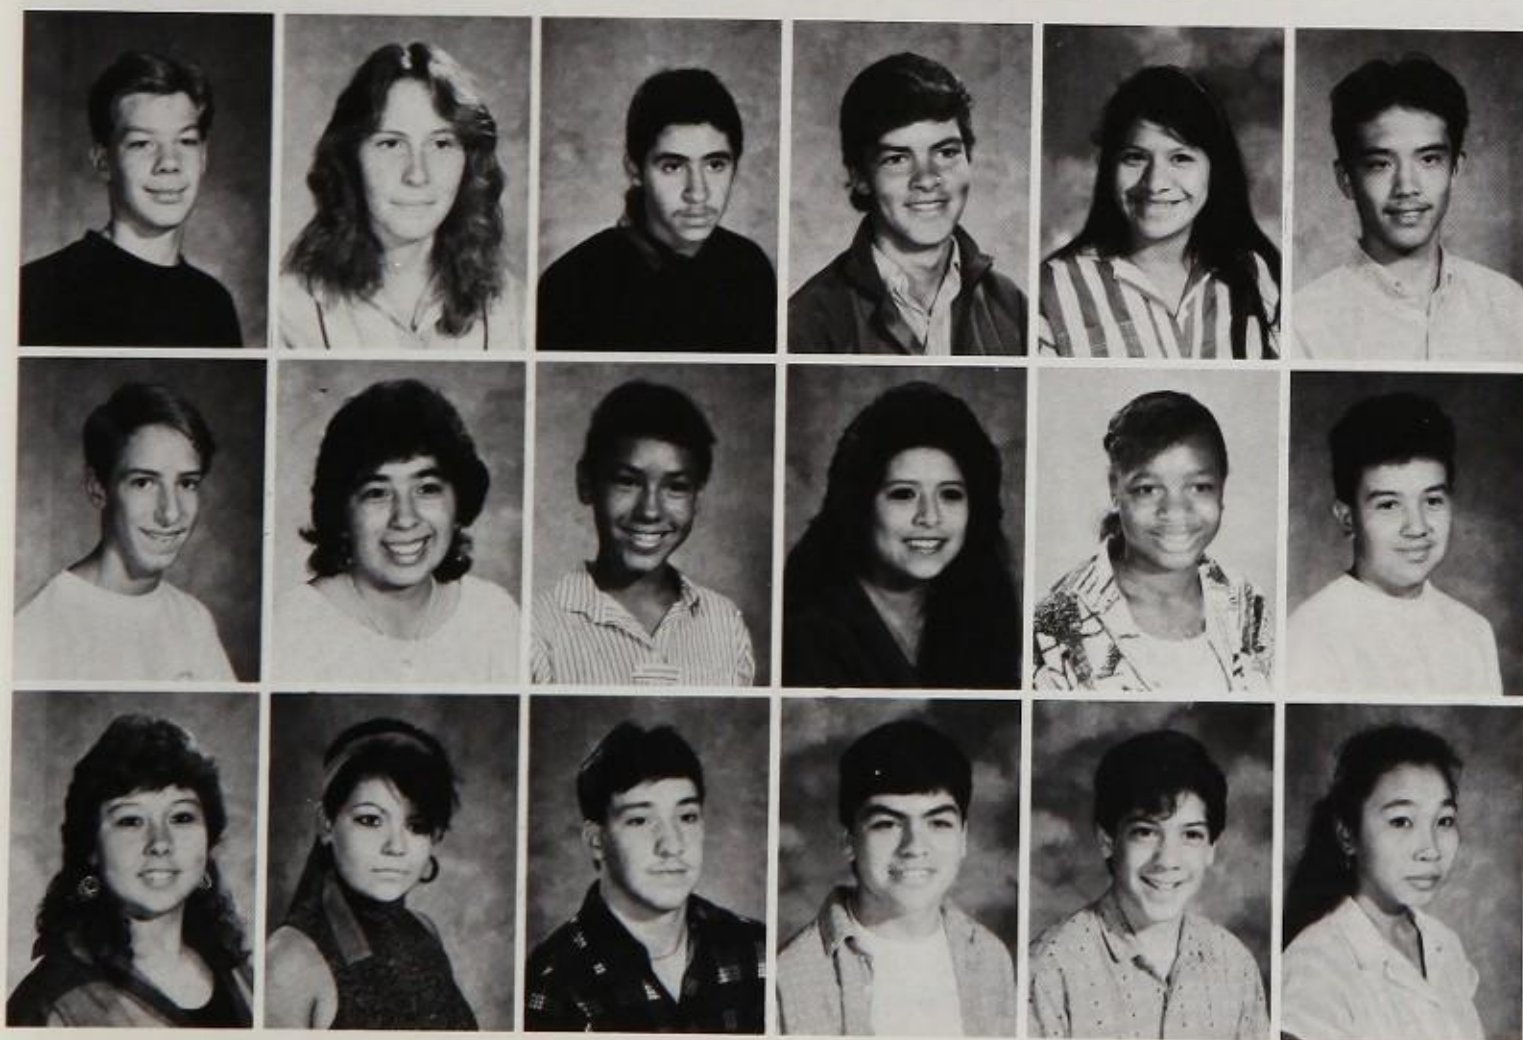

Each year the music fads come and go, but as for reggae it is here to stay. Along with this rasta defined deep bass music came a whole new attitude for young listeners. Reggae originated in Jamaica, and since the sixties has increased in the United States.

The time to just kick back and relax is sharply uplifted by this mellow music. Artists such as Bob Marley, Peter Tosh and Steel Pulse will leave music that will be enjoyed by many generations. Each group has their own sound, making them unique.

The Jamaican beat and the songs of freedom can keep you content, but getting hooked will keep you jammin. "It is as if the music is addicting, I can relax and listen to it for hours" exclaimed Heidi Fahey.

Sticky Situations

Everybody likes gum, especially freshmen. Although gum chewing doesn't require much brain activity, most freshmen agreed that there are a few things to consider. Don't chew with your mouth open. not nice to do that. As Mr. Sarar put it, "Don't snap, crack, pop, or blow bubbles in class."

"After realizing that I'd forgotten to brush my teeth, gum is extremely handy," comments Cynthia Bayon. "I chewed it during lunch when I had nothing to eat," remarked Angelica Alvarado. Most of the class of '90 chewed gum for the pleasure.

Cruising and In Touch

Ed Albright
Vice Principal

Who is the "new cruiser" at Lompoc High? Mr. Albright is the new assistant principal that moved here from Riverbank High School.

While cruising around the campus he's noticed that the students are "with it" when it comes to fads. "The students are riding the crest of the wave."

Mr. Albright has been to all of the teachers' classes at least once. He hopes to accomplish seeing every teacher in action in every class they have.

Keeping teachers on their toes by dropping in is how Mr. Albright keeps in touch with the faculty. "I want the teachers to teach the kids, not just the subject matter."

Mr. Albright doesn't want to be out of touch with the school by just sitting in his office. He wants to be in touch with LHS by going out and mingling.

Bert Heter, Dean

"I spend my free time . . ."

"Most of my "free" time out of school is centered around my two children and observing their activities, but I have a few selfish priorities that I find enjoyable. I usually get up early and lift weights before school or I run with my Great Dane. I also have started SCUBA training/diving and look forward to exploring inner space."-Ed Albright

Bloops and Blunders

"I'm embarrassed to tell you that I've never had an embarrassing moment. I certainly hope this qualifies because my wife checks the yearbook each year. (See she thinks I work here and seeing my picture in your yearbook is proof positive.) It would embarrass me, not to mention how it would hurt my wife, a good woman who would also be embarrassed if her husband's picture were left out just because he's never been embarrassed."

-Gary Prucha

"What was your most embarrassing moment during your teaching career?"

"While reading a line from Shakespeare's Othello, I said in my most serious voice: 'And this black ram is now tugging your white ewe.' Between howls of laughter, my favorite student said, 'Mr. A., it's 'ewe' (you), not 'eewe'!' How was I, a city boy, expected to know such niceties of animal husbandry-at the tender age of 23?!"
-Bill Arnerich

"On my very first day of work at LHS, Mrs. Heter denied my admittance into 'first day of school assembly' because I was late. She thought I was a student."
-Tom Blanco

"I always cry when I read sad stories or poems to my classes."
-Mary Ellen Brooks

"In my Advanced Writing class a very attractive young female student asked me to comment on her essay. 'How is mine?' she asked. Without hesitation or thinking I blurted out, 'I think you're very well-developed!'"
-Bob Carlton

"When I grabbed the wrong lunch bag and pulled out a six-pak of Bud for lunch!"
-Pat Clevenger

"Being wrapped in toilet paper and blowing up a balloon, all by myself, in front of the entire school while Mr. Sarar, Mr. Hensley, and Mr. Martin got to do so as a team."
-Carol Diers

"One day when I was absent from school on a "personal business" I met the superintendent and my principal at the Country Club where we were all having lunch!"
-Alice Down

"Retiring at such a young age."
-Love, "Uncle" Roy Ekstrom

"Getting to school with two different colored shoes on!"
-Jan Herber

-Karen Hinck

A student came to my desk asking for a pass to the nurse. I questioned him on why. The kid promptly barfed all over my desk. Now any child who wishes to go to the nurse may go, no questions asked."
-Phil Hirschler

"Discussing the reproductive system parts and functions of the bull with my animal science class and having the Vice Principal "drop-in" for an observation. He did not enjoy being in class that day!"
-Lynn Ionata

"While doing a problem on the board in algebra class that resulted in an answer of 6, I inadvertently said, 'Sex'. The class informed me that I was in algebra class, not sex education."
-Mrs. King

"When Comm Lab was team taught, we had a substitute whose name, if not correctly pronounced, sounded like an obscenity. I was so determined to say the name right that, of course, I introduced him as the obscenity."
-Mrs. Leck.

"Once while substitute teaching at Ravenna High School, my slacks ripped down the crotch. I had bent down to pick the mail out of a lower box. Fortunately, the home ec. teacher was quick with a needle, but I did spend part of the period in sweats."
-Mr. Moncier

From Near and Far

Kenneth Robinson was a math exchange teacher from the town of Harrow in London, England. Robinson and his family had visited America before and wanted to come back. Coming to Lompoc High School was by chance. His application was matched with that of another teacher from Lompoc.

Three reasons he wanted to come to America were to experience the weather, culture, and different educational system. He liked the weather here because it was consistent. He said that in London they were never sure if the weather is going to be nice or rainy. Also he has had to adjust to waking up earlier to come to school. A normal day at school in Harrow starts at 9:00 a.m. and ends at 2:30 p.m. Each class period is 35 minutes long and each student attends 8 class periods a day. Also their schedule rotates from day to day. The similarity between the two schools involves the students. He said that the students' behavior is almost exactly alike. He thinks students are students no matter where they attend school.

Mr. Robinson is kept busy at his overflowing desk.

A Light Touch

After working at LHS for twenty-five years, this was Mrs. Jacobson's last year.

Mrs. Jacobson attended college at the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire, where she got her B.S. Then she continued her education at Cal Poly and got her M.E.

The biggest change in education that Mrs. Jacobson has noticed is that the philosophy that "Kids do not fail, teachers fail" no longer holds. Now, students earn their grades.

We wish Mrs. Jacobson many quiet years away from those noisy typewriters.

"The Worst Thing I Had To Do For A Teacher Was When . . ."

"I had to ignore a crying child while working at an elementary school."

-Donna Horne

"They asked me to ignore acts of hostility made by aggressive students."

-Bonnie Mathes

"I had recess duty twice a day, every day for five school years. Can you imagine the amount of hair spray I used with Lompoc's sea breeze?"

-Bonnie Rauschuber

"I had to tell a 240 lb. football player that he had B.O. and that he had to take care of that problem."

-Kathy Zamora

Behind The Scene

If the first letter of your last name was in the last half of the alphabet, you probably had some contact with Mrs. Matlack.

This was the third year that Mrs. Matlack worked in the office. Along with taking care of the attendance, she issued lockers, work orders, and signed students up for driver training. She was a "saint" for those of us who did not have our license yet.

After twenty one years of service, Mrs. Matlack retired at the end of '87. Her plans after retirement included traveling and spending more time with her grandchildren.

Both boys' and girls' cross-country teams had an exceptional season this year.

The 1986 boys' cross-country squad did very well with a 9-0 record in dual meets. The boys' team went all the way to Northern League Champions. Running very well for the boys was Tom Campbell, who became Northern league Champion for the second year in a row. Also running well for boys' varsity was Matt Holloway, Mike War-nock, and John Pease.

The girls' cross-country team had a strong year by finishing fourth in CIF competition. The girls had a season record of eight wins to one loss and a league record of four wins to one loss. Susan Carey had an exceptional year going all the way to third in Northern League competition. Karlie Graham and Maureen Hammons also tore up the course for the girls.

Matt Holloway stated, "I'm glad to see that our cross-country teams did so well during my senior year."

Netters Stroke with Spirit

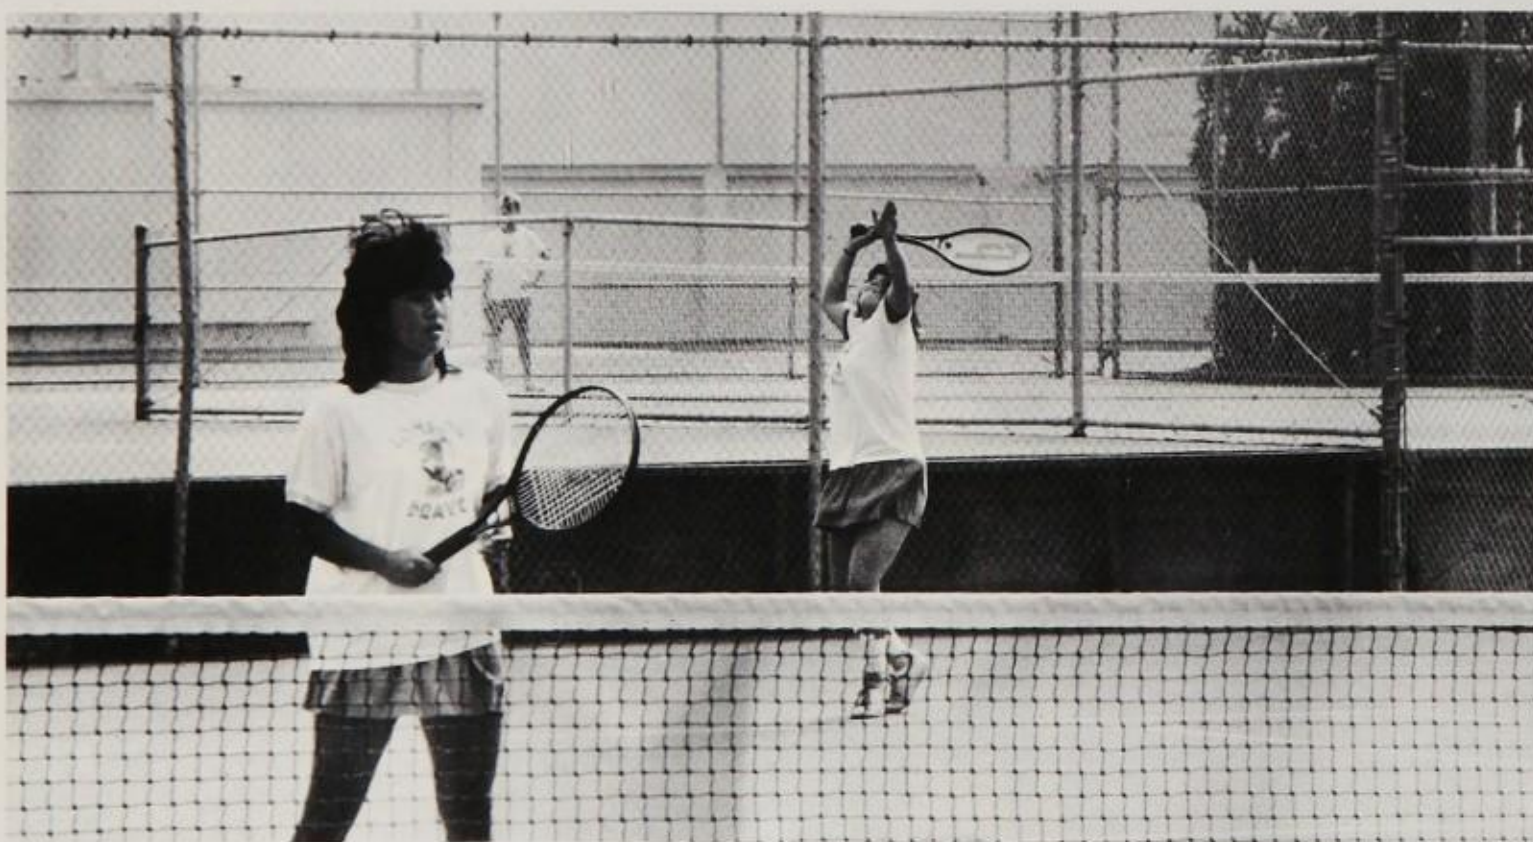

The netters nipped the 1986 season with great unity and spirit. The girls' tied for second in the Northern League with a 7-5 record and an overall record of 10-11. Co-captain Kay Bremer not only paced the team but also snagged the first place position in the Northern League. Also, sophomore Susan Grinstead and freshman Yoshino Uema astounded us all by becoming the League's Doubles champions. Kay Bremer said, "Because we were such a young team this year we had to work extra hard against most of the teams in our league. Even though we tied for second as a team we have both the singles and doubles individual titles for our league, which is a really big accomplishment."

Mr. Bickmore was the newly appointed coach for the girls tennis team. Praising the young team, Coach Bickmore emphasized that "the girls improved with every match."

The girls were not only a team but they became a family. Reflecting this feeling of unity, Heather Johnson expressed, "Out of all the teams we played we were by far the best. Despite our numbered scores we were the most spirited and the most united and that's all that really counts."

Heather Johnson steps toward victory.

The 1986 Varsity football team had an awesome season. The Braves didn't start off so well, only winning 2 out of 5. But the guys got their act together. They came back strong and filled with Blue pride, won 7 out of 10 pre league games, and roared with thunder into CIF.

The Braves inexperience at the beginning of the season was to be expected with only 15 returning varsity players. But they learned quickly, shattering the opponents by winning the last 5 games in a row, especially thrashing Cabrillo, 37-7. When interviewed, Jason Thompson summed it up by gloating, "Varsity does it all with contact."

The Lompoc Braves defense this year was awesome. They had strong willed players, who at any moment were ready for a good fight, which in turn was reflected in their tackling power.

This year a new face was a center of attention, Coach Barrett. Barrett's style was different from coaches in the past. "He's alot more spirited, and supportive on the sidelines!" commented Eric Pacheco.

Eligibility Counts

"We could and should have done better this year, but too many of our good players were ineligible. But we'll be a lot better prepared and we'll do better, too, next year," stated JV co-captains Juan Gonzalez and Dusty Gleason. Both co-captains agreed that both of them had a good season. "Billy Montoya, Anthony DeLira, and Keith Royal also played really well this year," they voiced.

Ineligibility caused the JV team a lot of problems. Too many of their good players couldn't take on the harder courses taken as a sophomore to make grades and to be able to play football.

Our freshmen team

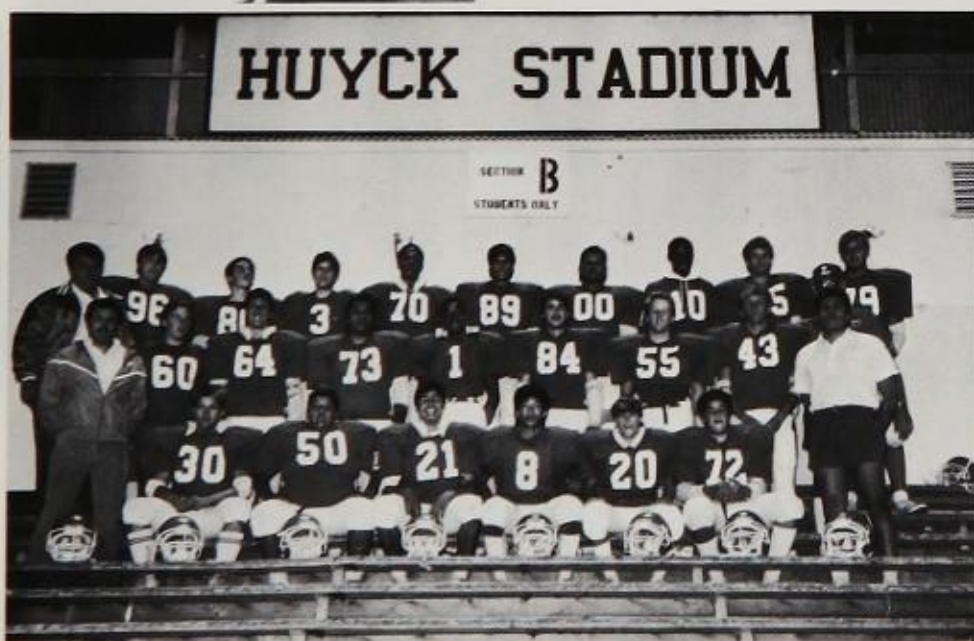

faired better in school and out on the field. They remained undefeated for the entire season by winning every single one of their games. Hopefully next year this same winning group of guys can take on the tougher responsibility of being on JV and taking the harder courses.

Fun, Despite It All

This year's Volleyball team didn't exactly go to the top, yet the fun times during the games were the highlights of the season. They will fondly remember the games they did win in the matches they played and the overwhelming victory over Faculty. "It wasn't a bad year. It's just our bad points overpowered our good points. We just kept getting ourselves down." said Beth Cartwright.

Mr. Long, Varsity Volleyball coach, commented "The scores didn't tell the true way the girls played. Unfortunately it is a 'win or lose' game."

The J.V. team played well this season. Mr. Pitt, J.V.'s coach, said, "It was one of my better years of coaching."

The Varsity's M.V.P.

A 'Gentle' Game

Water polo is a safe "non-contact" sport. Poloists expect a certain amount of basic contact with their opponents. Battle wounds from this 'basic contact' include scratches, bruises, poked eyes and ripped suits. Despite all this, Varsity shooter Rich Dixon assures, "It's a fun game."

It is also a game that requires determination, skill, endurance and unity. These traits were insured with daily 3 hour practices, both in the water and out, under fifth year head coach Kevin Hicks. Hicks continually emphasized the importance of not relying on individual talents, but distributing the scoring and defense responsibilities among all players. Steve Page noted "Our main strategy involved keeping all players well and out of the hospital."

Outstanding performers include Varsity Goalie Brian Kuipers, who was co-captain and M.V.P., Brandon Stonebraker, recipient of the Coaches' award, and co-captain Todd Jaenicke. Aram Bullock, Mark Cresswell, and Corbett Wright were true assets to the J.V. team.

To The Hoop, Two

This year showed us what we need to do in the future to improve our game," stated Coach Mike Donlea of the Varsity Boys Basketball team this season. The boys basketball club faced four opponents three times this season, Righetti, Santa Maria, Arroyo Grande, and San Luis Obispo.

Joe Smith, the freshman coach, Woody Dawson, the freshman assistant coach, and Coach Elliott from the junior varsity were all new to the basketball program here at Lompoc. T.C. Webb shot and made the majority of the points this season with Eric Pacheco close behind. "We really started off well but I guess we need a little more time in the gym to get better", exclaimed Derrick Moody. Also the freshman team had a great season, being undefeated at home.

The Dream Team Is in the Gym

LHS Girls Basketball team was dynamite. Hooping, rebounding, and fast breaking led them to a 12-0 record in Northern League and all the way in CIF. High expectations of the team were shown through the CIF ratings of 1st seed and 2nd seed in State.

Breaking 4 records demonstrated the extreme talent and ability of this team. "This year's team has set a level of excellence for all future girls basketball teams at LHS. Their quality of play allowed me to achieve my goals as a coach," stated Mr.

Dupree. "They're a dream team."

The JV team was a young team of all freshman. Preparing for the future in girl's varsity was a main goal. Under the new coaching of Mr. Moncier this JV team was full of Blue Pride and enthusiasm.

Goals and Expectations

The season was a hard one this year for the varsity soccer team. They started out doing pretty well in the beginning of the season, but shortly after they seemed to be tying most of the time.

When asked why this was happening, Wade Schwark, varsity captain, commented, "This year was a lot harder than other years, because the teams in the league seemed to be pretty even so this was what caused most of the ties."

Other players thought that the team had the potential to have won more matches, but they just didn't play together.

"We didn't need more practice to have won more games; what we needed was to have played as a team," commented Scott Holloway. Though it wasn't one of their best seasons, the Boys Varsity soccer team had a great time playing ball and making new goals.

A Fight to the Finish

The defending Northern League champion Brave wrestlers fought a hard battle, but finally had to hand the N.L. title to the San Louis Tigers. This was a disappointment after five consecutive league championships, but they did have the most league champions. The five champions were Fred Lara at 98 pounds, Scott Beavers at 112 pounds, James Chism at 126 pounds, Mike Wright at 154 pounds, and Todd Ranney at 191 pounds.

In CIF competition, Chism placed the highest on the team with a sixth place finish, while Ranney, Lara, and Shannon Thompson also had strong showings. "We earned 30 1/2 team points at CIF. Since only one senior contributed toward these points (two points), we already have 28 1/2 points towards next year," commented Coach Thompson.

Get a Grip on Things

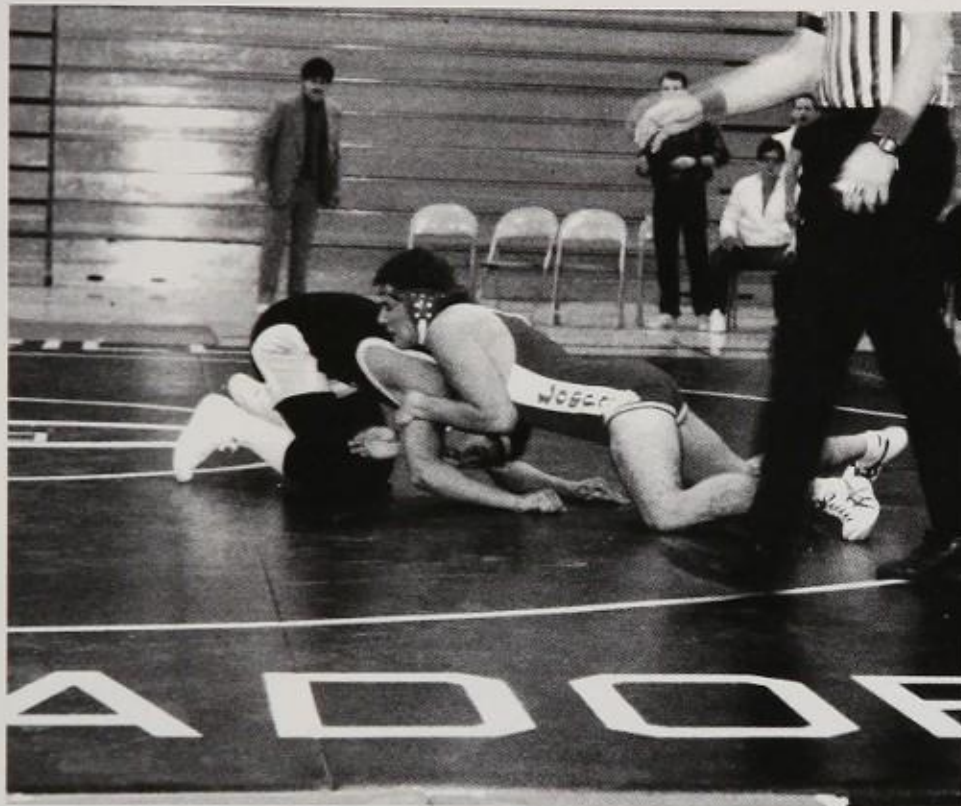

For the past few years, the Junior Varsity wrestlers have completed their season with an outstanding record, but this year they outdid themselves by finishing undefeated in League. The Frosh and J.V. both displayed great talent at the tournaments.

Milton Royster and Ben Smith placed first, while John Plo and Nathan Flint took second at the Simi Frosh Tournament. During the Lompoc Frosh Tournament, Fernando Munoz and Plo were victorious, and finishing second were Flint, Danny Sugawara, Smith, and Jay Anderson. At the Santa Barbara J.V. Tournament, Shannon Thompson placed second, and Alex Stone and Anderson finished third.

"We have a very good Frosh group, and many of them had the opportunity to wrestle with the J.V. team. These guys are the wrestlers of the future, and have the potential to be C.I.F. champions." boasted Coach Thompson.

They're a Hit

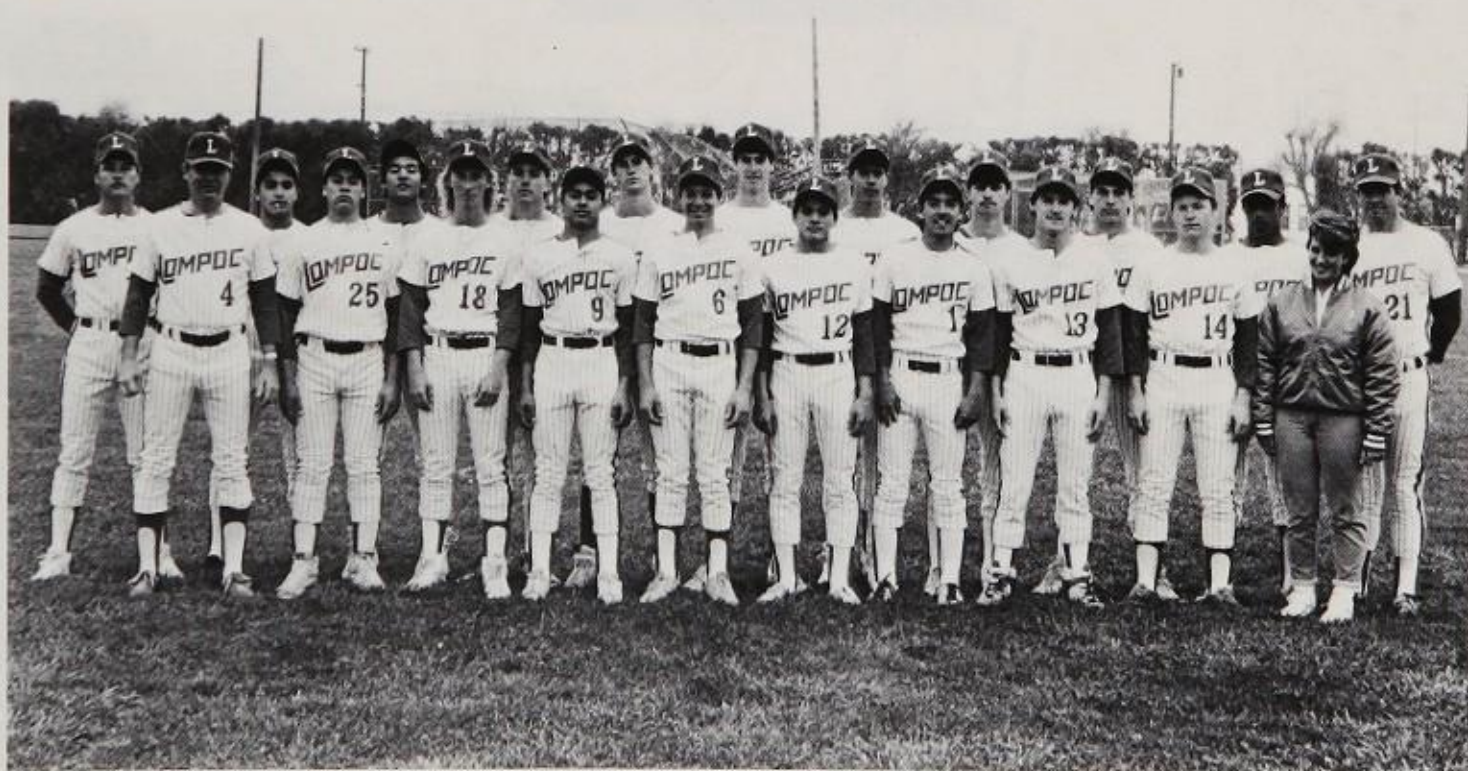

The Big Blue Braves Baseball Machine had a hard start last year. With a new C.I.F. rule they had to start two weeks late. The team consisted of seven returning letterman and ten returning players from last year's J.V. and frosh teams. The team was expected to take league and do well in C.I.F., after coming off an outstanding season in '86 with 20 wins, 8 losses, and going all the way to second round C.I.F. . . .

This year's coaching staff consisted of three coaches, Dan Bodary, who's been head coach for 21 years, Tom Harmon, who's been asst. coach for 11 years and also played and graduated from Lompoc in '70. Our last coach, Gary Williams, was a new coach last season, but this coach came from over the hill; he played and graduated from Cabrillo in '81.

In true Brave fashion the team made it to CIF.

In Training

Springtime ushered in many things, including the baseball season. As the JV and Freshmen took the field this year, they felt they were in for an excellent season.

According to team member Joey Hoosier, the baseball strong points seemed to be powerful hitting, with Hoosier, Juan Gonzales, Mike Hoosier, and Mike Terrones consistently hitting around .500, and strong arms in the outfield, especially with players Robbie Romero and Paul Blakeboro.

Hoosier felt that Santa Maria would be their toughest opponent.

For the freshmen, the strong players were Jason Garife, Roger Biler, and Doug Miller.

An Ace in the Hole

From retrieving balls to playing the dreaded ball machine, the boys tennis team served aces.

"It's a great working bunch," said Coach Dave Bickmore. "I'm looking forward for some great things. They're young but very competitive."

"Righetti and San Luis might be difficult," Coach Bickmore thought.

"Tennis is great!" said player Bill Ochs. "It's an individual sport but also a team sport."

From "Love!" to "Fore!" Lompoc's golfing team was busy stroking to stay on par. Four year letter winner Nick Harper made a great bid for an individual League title. And the youngest golfing team in LHS history led the Golfing Braves into Northern League competition.

The best things about golf," said Coach Gary Prucha, "is that it's going to last them a lifetime."

One Stroke Ahead

The swim team faced new challenges this year. The girls coach Marty Lacey, and new boys coach Frank Piemme really put the teams to the test. In addition to the regular practices, the Varsity spent every morning from 6:30 to 7:30 either lifting weights or swimming.

Leading the divers this year was senior Steve Burton.

Many of the team members agreed that the San Luis Obispo Relays were the most fun of the meets. "San Luis was the hottest," commented Jerry Milligan.

When asked about how she felt about swim team, Shelly Mahony commented, "Swimming at 6:30 AM and 3:00 PM to the Coach Lacey workout was so hardcore. But the way I felt about myself after working out and the fun I had during the season made it worth it."

A Girl's Best Friend

This years softball team was a young but strong team. The varsity team had six returning lettermen, two of which were seniors. They also had three freshmen on their team. Every player was a great asset to the team. The new varsity coach, Jimmy Jacobs, had coached the J.V. team last year.

To fill the position of J.V coach was Mrs. Zamora. She was familiar with many of the players because she has been on campus as an aide in the Resource Program and has been active in youth softball for many years. She was happy to see many freshmen coming out for the team.

The practices went on a regular basis, but the girls really looked forward to the games. Working as a team was the key factor in winning.

The softball team attended the Tournament of Champions, the Simi Tournament, and the Cabrillo Tournament.

A Hop, Skip, and a Jump

The boy's varsity and junior varsity track teams started this year's season well. With many returning varsity members, the team had an outstanding chance to go far.

The teams had to work hard to keep their great performances up to par. Along with Coach Warrick, Coach Jasso and Coach Hunt worked hard and strove to strengthen each individual section.

"We can win League; it just depends on how hard the guys work. We have the depth and strength to win," said Robert Ligon.

Varsity's advantage this year was with the return of long distance runner, Tom Campbell, sprinter Jake Brown, and shot put and discuss thrower, Greg Hirschler.

"I think the team has an excellent chance to the regain league championship," remarked Coach Warrick.

their hand-offs until they were consistent. The hurdlers kept their strides in motion or else they ate the asphalt. They worked together for one goal — it was to win the Northern league title.

The varsity and J.V. teams competed in three invitationals in Rio Mesa and Ventura.

Meet nights were the time when all those hours of training and running paid off. "It's a great feeling to hear your name and standings over the loud speaker," expressed Cheri Hartman. The advantage the girls had over other teams was that they were proficient in every event.

No Pain, No Brain

CSF established new priorities for the 86-87 year. The top priority was involvement. Service projects, headed by Tom Campbell, included the canned food drive, in which the students collected over 300 cans of food to donate to the Food Pantry. Shelly Truman's project, Alumni Day, brought back fifteen alumni to answer the questions of LHS college bound students. With these projects, CSF President Barbara Towns definitely had her hands full.

Under the supervision of David McCuen, the tutoring program at LHS went well. In the program CSF members were assigned students who needed assistance in their classes.

Other CSF exploits included trips to UCLA and USC. They also planned a four day trip to the University of Pacific in March.

Speaking with Money

FBLA is the Future Business Leaders of America. It provides competition in accounting, data processing, typing, and entrepreneuring. The club met on a biweekly basis led by president, Maria Chavez and advisor, Dean Anderson. This year's members attended two conferences in the L.A. area. "I joined FBLA to take advantage of what they had to offer and because I love to travel," remarked Elana Espino.

Speech was much like FBLA. The speech team also competed but their genres were different. They competed in humorous and dramatic interpretation, expository, original oratory, impromptu, thematic, and original poetry/prose. According to president, Christine Foley, "This was a good year for all novice members." The club was under a new coach, Doug Haney.

Voices that Sing

The Concert Choir was under the direction of Mr. David Hensley. This past year the choir was involved in several happenings.

The Concert Choir performed two concerts at Christmas time, they attended many music festivals, and they performed at the Mother's Day Mission Concert in May. The student body heard the Concert Choir sing at the Christmas assembly. One of the highlights of the performance at the Christmas assembly was a solo by Heather Greene.

Besides having to be good at singing members of the Concert

Choir had to be dedicated to it the entire year. "Singing gives you a chance to express your feelings freely," stated Barbara Tobin. "I like Concert Choir because it gives me a chance to show off my voice; singing is my life," quoted Jed Bingham cheerfully.

Barbara Tobin, Tanya Wilson, and Kathy Nunez practice their warm up exercises in order to "drop their jaws".

A Personal Touch

Debbie Coxsey

Debbie Coxsey was the youngest member in Madrigals this year. She felt that since she was the youngest, when there was a mistake it was her. "It's an insecure feeling." Some of the concerts that Debbie attended were a festival in May, the Christmas Concert, and Gigs. Gigs were when people from different businesses called them up to have a performance.

Being committed to the Madrigals was one of the key things for Debbie. "You have to circle your schedule around Madrigals. When you have an appointment or have to work, you have to break it for Madrigals. I feel the Madrigals are a family working together."

On The Road Again

"Mads are a terrific group!" exclaimed Mr. David Hensley. Mads are the top 2 or 3 High School singers in the State! These Top Gun people are picked by their singing abilities from previous training in Freshman, Concert, and Women's Choirs. The Mads consist of 28 top singers which is then balanced into 14 men and 14 women.

The Mads were known all across California for their wonderful voices. The majority of their travel was at the last part of the year when they participated in Festivals from April throughout May.

The Mads were invited to the San Jose State University Festival. Only four choirs like the Madrigals were invited to attend. That was a great achievement for the Mads this year!

Mads perform in 55 different concerts a year. The music the Mads learned was very hard, which required a lot of time and energy to be the best.

Singing to Perfection

Singing abilities were shown through the Freshman and Women's choir. These abilities predicted some top quality singers. That was why these 2 choirs were very important. They prepared students for the future in high school and even college. Many students were aspiring to be in Madrigals and thinking possibly of majoring in music.

Breaking in and getting used to singing here was the primary purpose of the Freshman choir. It gave the freshmen a chance to realize their singing abilities and decide if they would like to advance to Madrigals and Concert choir. Performing in 5 concerts kept them working hard.

Considered as the intermediate choir, the Women's choir was a group of talented girls. There were no auditions for this choir. Experiencing new vocal techniques and working towards 5 concerts including the Spring Music Festival kept the Women's choir on their toes. They often worked on standard literature and A Capella. Mr. Hensley summed it up by saying, "This year's choirs were outstanding. I liked my kids."

Aggies Heap It On At Fair

The Future Farmers of America was one of the biggest clubs on the LHS campus. The club consisted of agriculture, livestock, and floriculture, to name a few.

FFA participated in Cow Palace and the County Fair where they showed their animals and then sold them. At the County Fair, Shane Clement got Grand Champion steer, and Brian Jure received Reserve Champion lamb.

There were many judging teams that went to quite a few meets throughout California. Floriculture, Dairy Products, Vegetable Crops, Ag Mechanics, and others practiced many hours and hoped to be the best.

Sadie Hawkins was what really made FFA famous on campus. The role was switched when the girl asked the guy. The whole environment of hay, farm animals, and western outfits made the dance complete.

The forever pushing and striving FFA advisors, Del Clement, Jackie Reid, and student teacher Kim Abaloe, only wanted the best for the members. The students learned many skills after being a member of FFA.

Robert Devaux

The Future Farmers of America had a tremendous impact on member Robert Devaux. During his four years in the club, he raised 16 animals, consisting of sheep, steers, and pigs.

Robert had been on the soil judging team and the vegetable crops team. Throughout the state of California he participated in many judging meets. Highlights for Robert in FFA included Cow Palace, State Conference, and the County Fair.

FFA took up a lot of Robert's time. He held the offices of Vice-President and Sentinel. Devaux, along with the other members of FFA, took part in BBQ's, Sadie Hawkins, FFA Week, and activities at the Convalescent Care Center.

Throughout the last four years, FFA inspired Robert. After he spent many hours devoted to his projects, his experiences led to Robert receiving State Farmer, the highest degree the state offered.

The FFA advisors helped Robert to become a better person. He stated, "FFA will be with me throughout my life, because I hope to be an Agriculture Instructor in the future."

Unify Through Spirit

For the first time in Lompoc High School's history the most spirited club on campus finally became legitimate: the Spirit Club.

Blue Thunder ran rampant this year as the spirit club cheered on the football and basketball teams and littered the streets of Lompoc with their infamous spirit caravans.

The club sold pins, the ever so popular "Wave if your a Brave" bumper sticker, and even helped raise money for Tracy McGregor's trip to Hawaii.

"I loved the club!" said Kendra Hill. "It was a blast!"

Estudiantes Unidos, one of LHS' low key clubs, had an unusually busy year. The money from their car wash, bake sale, and tamale sale went to help an orphanage in Tijuana.

The club first started years ago to help keep the migratory students in school. "The kids seem to enjoy it," said advisor Mrs. Cheney.

Filling A Need

The 1986 ASB got off to a great start this year! The ASB sponsored a child by the name of Maurice from the Philippines. "It was a rewarding experience. Through our donations we have given someone less fortunate a chance to have more opportunities," Sandy Alexander, ASB President, commented.

Besides this new project, the ASB also formed a new Finance Committee to work with the ASB treasurer. Although they had this committee in the past, it never seemed to stay together. The 1986 ASB's Finance Committee managed to change this.

Other issues that the ASB worked on were banning smoking in front of school, and a Secret Witness Program for vandalism, in which they would offer a monetary reward.

The Breakfast Club

Student Council found new ways to get involved this year, such as sponsoring a foster child, Maurice, and sending five members to go see Toma, a drug awareness speaker.

The Seniors planned the Senior trip and decided on the senior announcements. They also prepared the Homecoming Dance and Graduation 1987.

The Junior class was in charge of the biggest project, Prom. They also sponsored a dance in February and had two candy sales.

The Sophomores sponsored a dance in April and the Senior Tea in May.

The Freshmen sponsored a dance in May.

The biggest sacrifice of Student Council was the 7:30 a.m. meetings on Tuesdays. "I have to be here in the morning before I'm usually awake.", commented Travis Obley. One incentive to get the members there on time was the charge of 25 cents for every five minutes they were late. The money went to Maurice.

The Thespian Troupe #779 kept busy with meetings, workshops, and "Hello Dolly".

There were new workshops added to the Thespians' agenda. The workshops included makeup, characterization, playwriting, improvisation, and movement. Wendi Kuon commented, "The workshops we had were really fun, especially the improvisational ones. They were very good experience for any aspiring actor or actress."

The first play this year was the musical, "Hello Dolly". The last musical at Lompoc High was in 1984, so many Thespians were looking forward to "Hello Dolly".

"I really enjoyed working with "Hello Dolly". It was a great change of pace and a real experience in the fact that you got to learn more music techniques," expressed Kelli Beecher.

Quill & Scroll's activities included a bunny sale, a spring trip to Santa Barbara, and a conference.

The club consisted of La Purisima, Brave Words, and Smoke Signal staff members. In November, some members attended a conference in Anaheim.

It lasted for three days and two nights. Seventeen students stayed at the Marriot Hotel where they had a huge dance Friday night. There were fifty different schools from around the southern area. On Saturday, students went to classes to learn how to produce a better yearbook and newspaper. That night the students got to go to Disneyland where they had a fantastic time with Mickey.

The Q & S outing to Santa Barbara was also a big success. The members spent the day at UCSB's Journalism Dept. and the rest of the day at the beach.

Where There's Smoke . . .

Lompoc High School's band of dedicated reporters made their home among the bustle of fast breaking stories and critical deadlines.

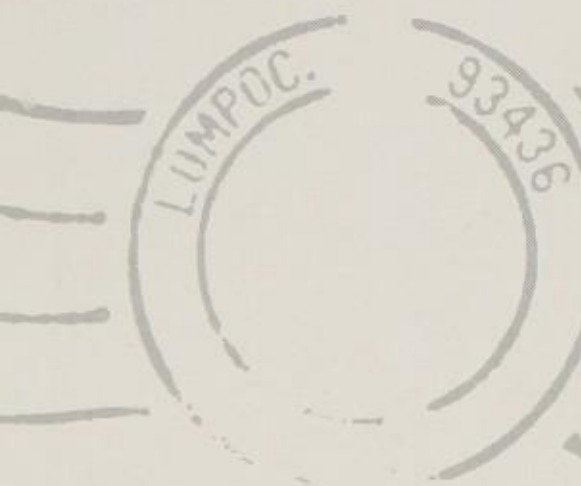

The Smoke Signal wasn't quite the Daily Planet or the New York Times but was still well received at the November SCJEA Journalism Conference at Anaheim. And although pin-striped suits, overcoats, and worn fedoras with press cards stuck in the brim weren't common sights, trips to McDonalds, late night deadlines and an occasional "Hold the Presses!" were.

"The staff was great. It got along better than last year's did," remarked co-editors Steve Burton and Karen Anderson. "But it was kind of like an organized chaos."

"Our goal this year," said advisor Mrs. Leck, "was to produce a better paper, write more interesting copy, and improve our style and graphics and have a good time doing it."

Russell Fuller

Why would anyone want the grueling deadlines, writer's blocks or screaming editors telling you to get it done yesterday? For the fun of it.

"I like working on the newspaper a lot," said Russell Fuller. "I get to meet people I wouldn't ordinarily meet. I've also learned responsibility, like at deadlines."

Is there a future in journalism for Russell? "I don't necessarily want to be a journalist, but I would like to work on a newspaper at college. His favorite part of working on the Smoke Signal is when it was finished and he could relax with the gift from his Secret Pal. Of his unknown colleague he said, "I loved your brownies."

Jazzing Up Concerts

The Concert and Jazz bands had a very busy year. Although they weren't formed until the second half of the year, they participated in many activities.

The Concert band performed at Festival, the Spring Concert, and they played at graduation.

Practicing only one night a week, the Jazz band had to make it count! They played at the Pops Concert and they toured around Lompoc to the local elementary schools.

After her first semester, alto sax player Tani Sell commented, "Concert Band is too big, but it's good because there are a lot of people who like music."

Concert and Jazz Bands gave many students who had taken private music lessons the opportunity to get more experience in performing for an audience. All the parents' money finally paid off.

Victor Johnston

Besides the uniforms, one of the biggest changes was the Drum Major, Victor Johnston. When asked what he thought about being Drum Major, he replied, "It's great! There is no experience like it."

When asked about being a member of marching band, he replied, "Well, it's great getting into football games free, but you can't eat or drink in uniform." He also pointed out that it was sometimes impossible to start practice at 7:30 A.M.

Victor Johnston led his "bandos" to many awards and trophies at state and county competitions, among those, a victory at the 1986 Flower Festival with a first place finish.

Marching In Step

The Lompoc High School Marching Band, through the direction of Mr. Bingham, continued its tradition of excellence this year.

The marchers had many fund raisers, such as candy sales, to promote their group. Besides this responsibility, the band members kept themselves busy on the football field, in competition, and especially at the morning practices.

Besides doing all those great half time shows, the band also competed in local and state competitions, where they usually ranked fairly high. Always placing at the Flower Festival is just one of the things the LHS Marchers are known for. All of these things made The LHS Marching Band a truly IN TOUCH group.

Notes Make Sounds

Under the conducting of Thomas Bingham the 1986-87 orchestra experienced the works of Haydn, Mozart, Bach, and Baroque music. In order to be in orchestra these young musicians had to audition for Symphonic Winds. Those who made it to the top 2 or 3 chairs were selected for orchestra. The 24 players this year consisted of violinists, celloists, violas, bassists, flutes, clarinets, trombones, trumpets, oboists, and percussionists. "The music is quite challenging but fun," stated Melissa Prince, the only oboe player.

The orchestra performed in the Christmas Concert. These students showed their dedication to music by donating one night a week to practice. They always seemed to delight audiences with their talent and professionalism.

Eddie Adair concentrates on the music.

A Personal Touch

Gavin Affatica

At first glance one wouldn't think that Gavin Affatica played in LHS's orchestra. This individual with his accented hair and rugged style of dress was a violinist. He enjoyed the music, especially Baroque. When asked about the best part about orchestra he jokingly replied, "Wearing the monkey suit." He performed in the 1986

Christmas Concert. That performance on December 17 had a special memory for Gavin. In the last number the lights were dimmed and it was difficult to see the music. "I couldn't play the right notes," explained Gavin.

"I'm not as experienced as the others, but I'm decent," he replied.

Senior Kevin Bernard and freshman Aaron Hedman tune into each other before class begins.

Noted for Excellence

Four of the Symphonic Wind members auditioned for the State Honor Band. The student who achieved this tremendous privilege was Laura Faust. She later participated in a special festival in San Jose on the weekend of February 19-22.

Laura Faust exclaimed, "I was so surprised that I made Honor Band! I worked my tail off which was worth it because it's such an honor to be in Honor Band."

Scheduled on January 31, the Solo Ensemble, supported by SCSBOA, was presented at Cabrillo High School. During the preparation period and the ensemble itself, students gained great insight and experience. Also, on March 7 the Symphonic Winds hosted a SCSBOA festival here at Lompoc.

One special occasion was planned for a musical venture to San Francisco in May. There, they exchanged ideas with other schools throughout California.

A Flick of the Wrist

This summer, while the main thought on most students' minds was finding a way to the beach, the girls on the Short Flags were hard at work preparing for the Flower Festival parade and the upcoming year. During the Flower Festival celebration, the girls ran a booth to help raise money for new sweaters. Near the end of July, the squad attended a camp where they learned new moves, routines, and, most importantly, they obtained experience. Throughout the fall season, the girls twirled their hearts out before school, during lunch, and after school for the upcoming football games and competitions.

Led by co-captains Margo Montoya and Aimee Kilmer, the Short Flags were a big hit, as they twirled their way to success at half-time performances and displayed tremendous support toward the band.

A Welcomed Addition

The Tall Flags squad consisted of eleven girls. In order to make the team, the girls had to learn a full routine, attend practice regularly, have a good attitude, and maintain a grade point average of two point zero.(2.0) "This year was great. We placed third and fourth in our competitions and even though we lost a few girls we managed to pull through to learn new and exciting things," stated Channon Honore, co-captain of this years Tall Flags squad.

Majorettes were added this year to the Braves Marching Band. There were four girls between grades nine through eleven on the squad. Several of these majorettes were on the Camp Fire Baton Corps, where the girls received prior training for the squad.

Majorettes Teresa Wear, Yvonne Careyette, Kim Murphy, and Heather Ashby.

A Personal Touch

Kathleen O'Neill

As president of Interact, Kathleen O'Neill had a lot of responsibility, and she managed to live up to all of it. But Interact wasn't the only activity she participated in throughout high school. She was also the Activities Commissioner. Kathleen planned all of the activities that students participated in, including the pie toss and Miss Legs contest.

Kathleen was active in volleyball and track but says that she's not really the sports type, although she really enjoyed both because of the competition. Her favorite things about school were the social aspects and Student Council. Whatever Kathleen did, she definitely added her own personal touch.

Dean Fairbanks has an unusual way of getting students to join Interact.

Staci Graham takes attendance at one of the lunchtime meetings.

Lending a Hand

Interact is a worldwide organization for youths interested in international and community service. The Interact Club kept themselves busy over the year, even though group participation wasn't what it should have been. "Group participation was low.

There were over 150 members who paid their dues ($4.00) and maybe fifteen do everything," commented Interact President Kathleen O'Neill.

The students who participated were greatly appreciated by the community. They helped clean up many areas of town including Lookout Point, and held canned food drives for the needy. The highlight of the year was the annual Interact Conference. Besides having a lot of fun, students learned how to better serve the community and get ideas for next year.

A small band of 32 guys and one girl made up Auto Club. They tinkered with hundreds of different parts from batteries to distributors. But few will one day make it a career.

This year Auto Club had their annual auto show and gave away $500 in trophies.

President Jerry Olivera said he enjoyed Auto Club. It gave him a break from his studies and time to relax.

Artie Walsh said he liked Auto because he could work on his van during school time and get a grade for it.

Now from grease to the field, think of our letter winners who have their own club. When you saw a L.H.S. letter jacket all you saw were patches and medals, but think of what goes behind that block L. This year the Letter club had three banquets one for each sport season, fall, winter and spring. The food for each banquet was prepared by Mr. Clement, head of our Ag. department. The Letter club also held the first dance of our new year 1987, just to make sure every one kept in touch.

Competition Bound

"Change best defined this year for the JV and Freshmen Spiritleaders. First, the squads were enlarged to six instead of the usual four and, second, they were placed under the Athletic Department's jurisdiction.

One thing that remained the same was their annual trip to

Magic Mountain. On March 7th, all of the girls, as well as the Varsity Squad, competed in a Southern California Competition. The JV/Freshmen competed in the JV category. They made up and practiced a routine of three minutes consisting of a dance routine, cheers, and mounts.

"It was a lot of fun and a great experience," stated Captain Lydia Castro.

"The girls did great! I was so proud of their performance," quoted advisor Nancy Tovas.

A Star Tour

Keeping busy for the LHS varsity spirit leaders was no problem in the 86-87 school year. They had become creatures of habit. Cheering at every game this year, and being accepted as an actual sport kept the devoted team mother, Nancy Tovias, busy. All fourteen girls created an image at LHS that lasted.

Starting off the year by attending the NCA camp for cheer and song at UCSB they commenced brilliantly. The whole year long they were kept busy with the traditional BBQs and infamous car washes. Every assembly they were there to lift our spirits, and when it came to eating, we're number one.

Qualifying at the NCA camp for the pom pom nationals in January, the girls spent the weekend at Disneyland and competed against some 100 squads.

Stats on the Mats

Mat Mates were a team too! Some people probably thought that all they did was watch the wrestlers and fill up space in the gym. But the Mat Mates were a big part of wrestling. Without them it would have been scored by memory and many mistakes would have been made. Luckily, these girls came along to save the day, some of the most important days for the wrestlers!

The 1987 Mat Mates set an example. Always rooting on our "Award Winning Wrestling Team" left our girls with nothing but an outstanding reputation. They sent small gifts to the wrestlers from "secret mat mates" which helped to keep spirits up.

When asked what her greatest memory of being a Mat Mate was, Esther Fernandez, senior, replied "Remembering how to score the matches, WOW, Huh! No big deal but I still don't know very well."

"The rewards are well worth the sacrifice you have to make," commented Annie Hermansen.

Diane Scredon

Diane Scredon, captain of the 86-87 Mat Mates, spent many extra hours fulfilling the duties of this position. Diane was a Mat Mate in her junior year, and this experience proved to be good background for her senior year as Captain. Her responsibilities included organizing matches and keeping track of the members of the club.

When asked what made her want to be a Mat Mate, Diane replied, "I always thought wrestling was interesting so I thought I would get more involved instead of just going to the matches and watching. I was hoping I could get the school more involved too."

No, it's not Divorce Court, Night Court, or even The People's Court. It's LHS's Mock

Trial team. This group of sharp individuals portrayed attorneys and witnesses, baliffs and clerks to try a case, this year, an assault with a deadly weapon.

The team spent weeks developing strategies and practicing. They succeeded in overruling Santa Maria to sustain the North County Championship. But they missed the State Championship and Sacramento by losing to Dos Pueblos by a mere 11 points, the closest in Mock Trial history.

"The team did really, really well. They did a great job. I'm very proud of them," Said advisor Gus Peterson. "I still think they beat Dos Pueblos."

The wind dies and the fog clears and everybody's thoughts turn toward the beach.

After six hours of school, most of the hardcore beachgoers grab their boards and head out to Jalama.

Most people find Jalama one of the most roundabout beaches in the area. It usually has the good weather for the people who prefer to lay out. But the thing that really brings the crowds is the waves.

Almost any time of the year you can go out and find consistent five to six foot waves. People have been known to travel all the way from Los Angeles to share what we have in our own backyard.

Another added plus is the world famous Jalama burger, or for people like ARTIE WALSH the Jalama dog. These may be the real reasons why the people come all the way from Los Angeles.

Beautiful girls, hot guys, nice weather, cool waves and about the best burger makes Jalama one of the most appealing places to go anywhere.

Individuality

“This year, fashion reflects your own personal style.”

-Devin Fairbanks

Individuality seems to have been the big fashion trend this past year. Everybody attempted to set his or her own trend and expressed their own personal style. Whether you just wore kick back clothes like sweats or if you got all dressed up every day for school, it didn't really matter. What mattered was if you were comfortable in what you wore and if it reflected your own personal style.

A main factor in finding your own personal style was what kind of life you led. Your lifestyle was depicted by what you wore. Because of this, it didn't matter what you wore as long as it fit your lifestyle and suited your needs.

But as always, there were a few brands of clothes that were the “in” thing to wear. “Jimmy Z, Esprit, and Guess became really popular this year,” stated PAM EDGE. They were popular because they were casual and comfortable. They also were bright, stylish, and fun to wear.

As long as you expressed your individuality, you were stylin’.

Lompoc once again had an action packed Homecoming this year. To start everything off, clubs all around campus picked and chose their favorite couple to represent them for Homecoming King and Queen.

As usual, our Homecoming assembly raged as high as ever. Football players, Spirit Club members, and athletic coaches participated in the class competitions, firing everybody up for the Big Game against Santa Maria, our undefeated nemesis.

At last it was the time of the crowning of the new monarchy. All eyes were on the field when Steve Lynes and Esther Fernandez were named.

The game was almost lost, but we outsmarted the Saints by stealing the ball, making the score 21-22 and leaving the Braves victorious in overtime.

The celebration continued Saturday night at the Homecoming dance, the dance that honored the new royalty. Even though the party ended and the music died down, the spirit of Homecoming didn't.

The daily announcements kept this year's students in touch with the school dances. Students shuffled down to the LHS cafeteria for those events. Snuggling couples swayed to the slow songs and crazy dancers grooved to the fast beat.

Homecoming, Sadie Hawkins, and Prom provided special highlights. Students went to the dances, mingled with their friends, and had a good time. Friends became better friends and other students made new friends.

Dancing made the spirit come out of everyone; even the shy people began to move around. The local D.J.'s played various kinds of music at the request of the students.

"The dances are fun. I like the music and everyone seems to have a good time," remarked KARI CAMPBELL.

"Rock Lobster", "White Lines", and "The Roof" rated in the top ten at most of the dances. These songs and dances kept the students at LHS in step.

Lompoc High's spirit was as high as ever this year. MATT SHELLEY commented, “Our senior class finally got their spirit together, and I believe that we lifted the whole school's spirit.”

More students than ever were participating in all of the school's clubs, games, and even noontime assemblies. At the assemblies the spirit raged even higher, while students cheered and showed their spirit. Each class was ready to compete and express their individual spirit in class competitions. Getting involved became somewhat of a natural habit. When it came down to it, though, all of the students united to help cheer on the mighty Braves and to keep our spirit alive.

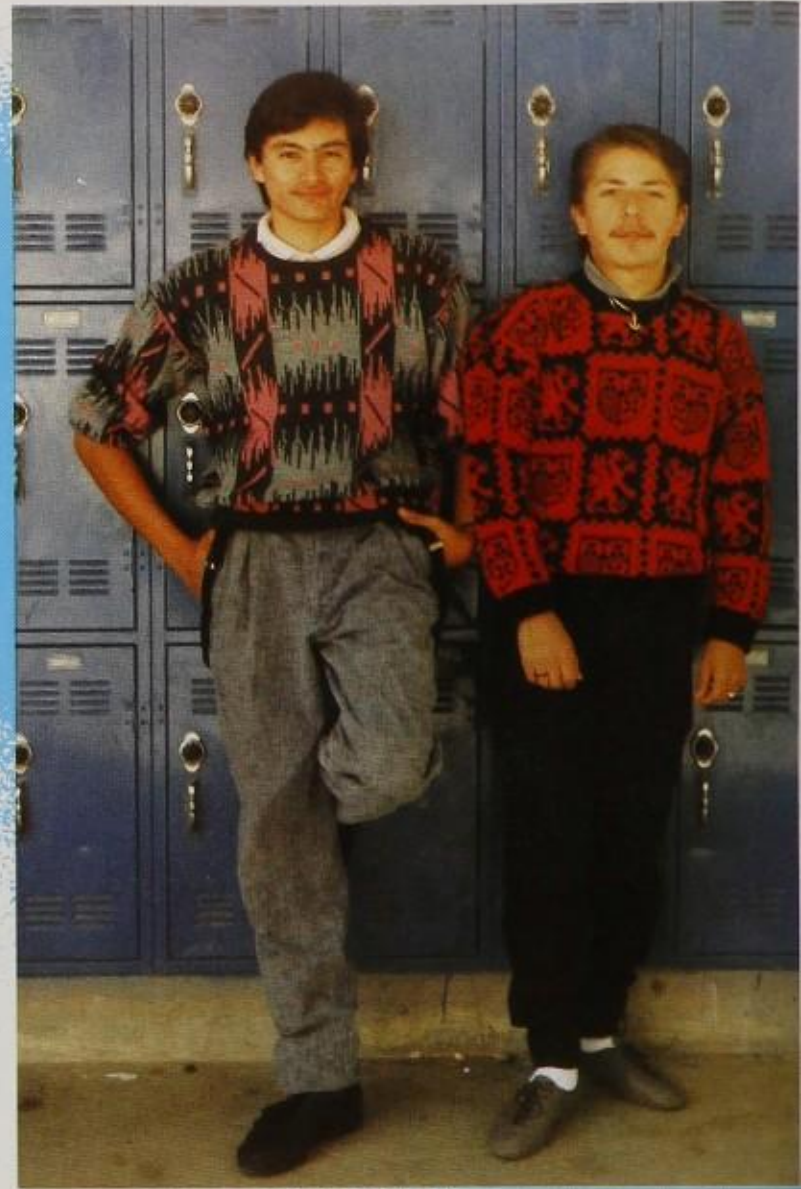

MIKE MICLAT said, “The best times that I have had in high school have been those when I was involved.”

Inseparable

“A friend is someone who makes you laugh when you’re bummed, and who’s always there.”

— Chuck Myers

When you observed the students’ friendships at Lompoc High, you noticed that there was something special about them. You noticed this through the glow they showed when they were together, and through the glow they showed when they smiled.

During school hours you saw them together running around campus, going to assemblies, and even spending their lunch time together. But with all this time spent with one another, they never seemed to get tired of each other, because when the day was over, you’d see them again at football games, dances, and other out-of-school activities.

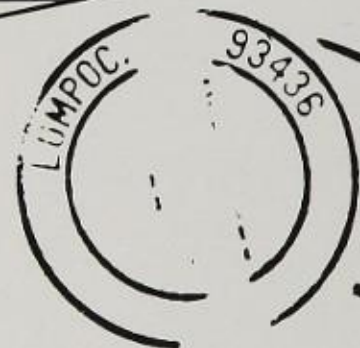

No matter where you saw LHS friends, you always noticed their glow shining through, whether it was laughing in their happy moments or crying in their sad ones. They’ll keep those special memories of their LHS friends forever.

We've Got the Touch

The 1987 La Purisima staff got the job done. There were only 6 returning staff members. Many of the staff members were new, so there was a lot to learn. In August, 10 people went to camp at Westmont College in Santa Barbara. They got many new ideas for the 1987 book.

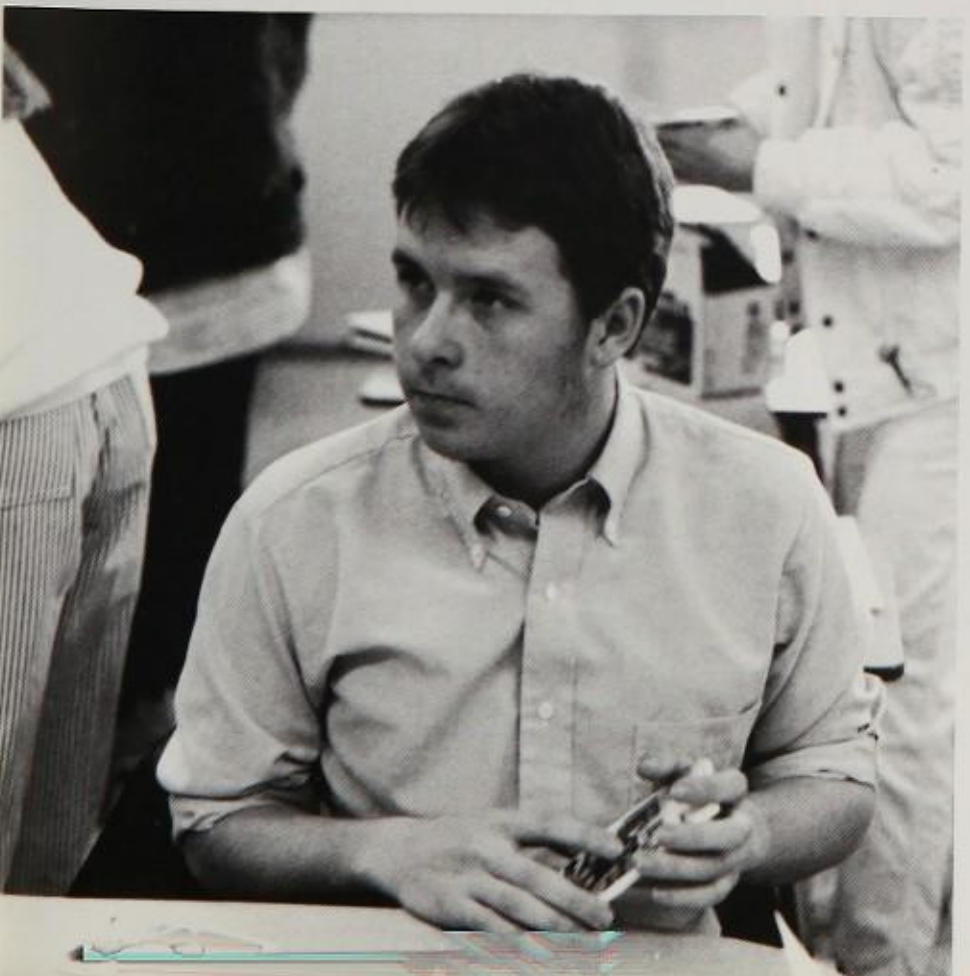

'87 was the first year that everything was sent in on a computer disk. Half of the copy for the senior section was lost, only days before it had to be shipped to Texas. About 9 hours of work had to be retyped. This prompted many of the students to form a new club on campus, YSMAC-Yearbook Staff Members Against Computers.

In the move from Mr. Ratcliff's darkroom the staff ruined most of the film for the underclassmen section. After several frantic trips to Tommy Yager's, they had enough photographs to send in.

The staff was noticeable on campus in their "They do it annually" T-shirts. They held a successful Black and White Dance in January.

Mitch Scolari, Michelle Rossi, Diane Waibel, Randy Dickau, Esther Fernandez, Leslie Waudby, and Annie Hermansen model their shirts the La Purisima staff designed for the 1987 book.

Maria Chavez looks to see any special instructions before finalizing her quad-pak.

Darnny, I am glad that I got to know you this year. And not in P.E. class!! we started out as Friends, then we were more than friends, and now we are friends again. Pretty good huh? At least we aren't enemies. Right? So I guess
I will see you next year. HAVE A fun summer.

Danny,
You a real sweet
guy. Thanks for everything in Science! Have a Real good summer
& a great senior year.
Sorry things didn't work out between you & Alisa But it's for the best. Take care of yourself!
Love ya. 88

TO THE BADDEST GRAPHIC ARTS
PERSON IN THE WORLD. (JUST KIDDING)
HOPE YOU HAD FUN IN THAT CLASS THIS YEAR BECAUSE YOU HAVE IT PLENTY OF TIMES NEXT YEAR. WE'LL SEE YOU IN THAT CLASS
NEXT YEAR.

Perp 6.

Danny - You know that the really truth is that you and Mr. B are really homosexual lovers, you are just trying to cover it up with this shit about me.
I guess you already know that I think you are a mother-fucker
SON-OF-A-BITCH. BUT LET ME REFRESH YOUR MEMORY.
See ya; Jenna

Danny -

To the worst in G.A. have a bitcher summer & see ya next year. No just kiddin! Good luck in your G.A. career. Take it easy on them Drugs. later.

Rick L

- Danny -

I hope your Packers have a wonderful season. I helped coach the Packers for 2 years and I enjoyed it even though they came in ND. Hope you have a nice summer.

Danny - It was fun having you in G.A. & History. Thanks for helping me out those few times. Just think. Next year you can help me all over again.
Have a great summer, I will, if the weather clears!!! Have a good one.

Kelly

To Danny -
I was fun having
you in 4th and 6th period
even though Pettigrew was a bitch. Have a bitchin summer
ya most year
many times

Danny,
 Well, first
 I wanted to say how much
 I enjoyed your help in the area of social studies
 and how much
 I appreciate the help you gave me. I got a lot of help from
 you. I hope you have a great summer.

Go Homechunks!
 What's the deal?
 I had a lot of fun
 in Volleyball last year. I didn't have any classes together
 this year, but I made next year!

Danny-
 Isn't ms. Pettigohn's class fun?
 your a cool dude, and have a funky hair cut, but that's cool. Have a raging summer. Keep up "THE
